FORMER SC JUDGE ARUN MISHRA TO HEAD NHRC

Former Supreme Court judge Arun Kumar Mishra is slated to become the chairperson of the National Human Rights Commission, after his name was proposed by a selection panel, which included Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah. However, senior Congress leader Mallikarjun Kharge, who was also part of the panel, has opposed the move, since he sought to appoint a member from either the Dalit, Adivasi or Minority communities.

Decision taken so as to end anxiety among students, parents and teachers, says Modi; most states, however, had suggested pen-and-paper test; CISCE board follows suit

CBSE CLASS XII BOARDS NIXED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Centre on Tuesday decided to scrap the Class XII CBSE board examinations this year, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi saying at a high-level meeting that the "health and safety of our students is of utmost importance and there would be no compromise on this aspect."

Evaluation of marks will be made based on an objective criterion prepared by the board in a time-bound manner, the government said but the formula was not released immediately.

Sources in the CBSE said there might be changes in the evaluation criteria it had proposed earlier, according to which results of Classes IX, X and XI, apart from internal assessments through Class XII, will be weighed in for scoring the students.

"It has now been decided that Class X results and internal assessment of Class XII alone will be taken into account for preparing the final results and the detailed criteria will be released soon," a senior CBSE official said. It has also been decided that for some of the students who may not be satisfied with the results, an option to write papers will be offered when the Covid situation is conducive.

The decision to cancel the board exams came even though all states and Union Territories — barring Delhi and Maharashtra — had given written consent for conducting the pen-and-paper mode tests.

The decision was taken after wide-ranging consultations, including a deliberation presided over by Modi and a second one by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh.

"In view of the uncertain conditions due to Covid-19 and the feedback obtained from various stakeholders, it was decided that Class XII board exams would not be held this year. It was also decided that CBSE will take steps to compile the results of Class XII students as per a well-defined objective criterion in a time-bound manner," the PMO said in a statement.

The PM underlined that while the pandemic has affected the academic calendar, the issue of board examination has been causing immense anxiety among students, parents and teachers, which must be put to an end.

"The Covid situation is dynamic across the country. While the numbers are coming down in the country and some states are managing the situation through effective micro-containment, some have still opted for lockdowns," the PM was quoted as having said in the meeting.

"Students, parents and teachers are naturally worried about the health of the students in such a situation. Students should not be forced to appear for exams in such a stressful situation," he added in the meeting where apart from Rajnath Singh, other ministers like Amit Shah, Nirmala Sitharaman, Prakash Javadekar, Piyush Goyal, Dharmendra Pradhan and Smriti Irani, and top officials were present.

Meanwhile, following the decision on the CBSE, the Council for the Indian School Certificate Examinations, the country's largest private education board, also announced its decision to cancel its Class XII board (ISC) exam for this year.

POSSIBLE EVALUATION CRITERIA

1. One proposal doing the rounds earlier was for the CBSE to consider the results of classes IX, X and XI, apart from internal assessments in Class XII, to arrive at the final score so that this does not become a zero year
2. While there is no official word yet, CBSE might just take Class X results and internal assessment of Class XII into account for preparing the final results
3. Students who want the option of written tests will get it when the Covid situation improves

Health and safety... is of utmost importance.... In today's time, such exams cannot be the reason to put our youth at risk. All stakeholders need to show sensitivity for students - Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

State yet to decide on PU exams

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @ Bengaluru

After the Centre on Tuesday cancelled CBSE Class 12 board exams, Karnataka's Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar said the state will decide on cancelling the Second PU exams, which are conducted by the state PU Board, after considering the Covid situation here. During a meeting convened by the Union HRD Ministry on May 23, Kumar is said to have backed the idea of holding the Second PU exams, terming it beneficial for students. P2

RISING CHILD COVID PATIENT COUNT IN MAHARASHTRA ADDS TO WORRY

Mumbai: Covid infection among children is soaring in Maharashtra's Ahmednagar, the latest report by the state health department shows. As many as 9,416 positive cases among children below 18 years of age were reported from the district. In April, 757 cases were reported among children below five years.

'Flu shots for kids can cut rush at hospitals'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi / Bengaluru / Hyderabad

AMID concerns that children, who are not vaccinated against the coronavirus, might be the biggest casualty in the next pandemic wave, the Centre on Tuesday said it will soon issue guidelines for Covid-19 management in kids and prepare hospital infrastructure to face any influx of child patients.

However, Dr V K Paul, Niti Aayog member (health) and chairman of national Covid-19 task force, on Tuesday said that so far, only 2-3% of Covid-infected kids have required hospital care. Dr Paul, who himself is a paediatrician, averred that available scientific evidence suggests children are less susceptible to severe disease. He said the government is nevertheless prepared for any exigency. "We will strengthen our facilities as required and do an audit of what is required and what might be required in a worst-case scenario," he said.

According to public health expert Chandrakant Lahariya, serosurveys have shown prevalence of infection was similar across all age groups. "So, a large number of kids may have been affected already," he said. But not many kids became seriously ill. This is because unlike adults, children have smaller number of ACE 2 receptors, which the coronavirus uses to enter human cells, he added.

While some doctors have advocated flu shots for kids to guard against Covid, a senior paediatrician in AIIMS, Delhi said it may not be suitable for India. "The flu shots are prepared for influenza virus strains prevalent in Europe," he said. Expressing similar views, Dr Jagadish Chinappa, a consultant child specialist at Manipal Hospitals in Bengaluru, said vaccinating kids with flu shots will not protect them from the risk of Covid-19 infection. However, it will help avoid the confusion if the cough, cold and fever in children are due to Covid-19 or influenza. "The Indian Paediatric Society has recommended vaccinating children to only reduce the need for Covid testing, decrease the burden on the healthcare system and protect children from influenza and not because the flu shot will prevent Covid-19. They are two different vaccines," he added. P9

Aadhaar-based DBTs: K'taka nails it first

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is the first state in the country to use the Aadhaar Payment Bridge System-based (APBS) Direct Benefit Transfers (DBTs) to beneficiaries, a large chunk of whom are farmers. "This DBT system uses Aadhaar number of the beneficiary as financial address instead of the bank account number, which was the practice earlier, leading to corruption, identity and benefit thefts," explained Additional Chief Secretary, DPAR (e-governance) Rajiv Chawla. "The scale at which Aadhar-based DBT is being used in the agriculture sector is unique to Karnataka," he added.

The senior IAS officer said that earlier, there was no mechanism in place to verify identity and bank details of the beneficiary. P7

Minister's 'wait & watch' comment draws flak

Parents, students say if CBSE, ICSE can cancel exams, then why is state waiting to gauge Covid situation before deciding

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar drew flak from parents and students for wanting to gauge the state's Covid situation before deciding on canceling the second PU exams, conducted by the State PU Board. Earlier, the Centre decided to cancel the CBSE Class 12 Board exams and it was followed by ICSE too calling off the crucial exams.

On Tuesday, Suresh Kumar in a press release said that the academic status of those following the state syllabus, opinions on evaluation and considering the health of students, a decision will be taken at the earliest. No decision was taken as of Tuesday by the education department about the state board examinations, a top official told TNIE. "We were keenly watching the Government of India decision on CBSE Class 12 exams. We will hold discussions with stakeholders hopefully tomorrow (Wednesday)," the official said. An appropriate response will be given after considering the present situation, he added.

However, Twitterati chastised Suresh Kumar for showing no concern for state board students. Requests poured in to cancel the Class 10 SSLC and Second PU board exams in the State. "If they (CBSE and ICSE) don't have the exams, then why for state? There should not be partiality in studies. We are not even well prepared for the examinations and we don't know how the state will hold retrospective evaluation," Bindu, a student of state board, said.

Meanwhile, Mansoor Ali Khan, General Secretary, Managements of Independent CBSE Schools Association (MICSA), said that the Centre's decision is wise. "Exams are too risky. CBSE now has to come up with guidelines on how to evaluate the Class 12 students," he added.

There was a mixed response from parents and students. A parent told TNIE, "As a mom I am not happy, as my child is bright and was expecting 92 per cent. The preparations were done well. She also topped the pre-boards, and was expecting the same for the boards."

"It's about the safety of students. However, there should have been another option. We are concerned about how these students will decide on their next step as exams would have helped them get a clearer idea. Students might take their opportunity for granted because for us Class 12 exams have been a testing factor, and that is when we prepare best for the examination," said C Jaiswal, whose son is in a CBSE board school.

However, anxiety still prevailed in some students about the evaluation process and how they would be graded. "I feel good, but scared of what the percentage is going to be as we do not know how it is being calculated and allotted. Exams were postponed for so long and there were meetings, but no final decision was taken. Finally, it is good to know all are going to be safe," said Sanjana Nair, a CBSE student from Kendriya Vidyalaya.

Deputy Chief Minister and Minister for Higher Education Dr Ashwath Narayan, who lauded the Prime Minister's announcement, was flooded with requests on social media to cancel VTU exams as well.

Vaccines diverted by MLA, allege residents

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

IN a fresh case of a BJP leader landing in a controversy over Covid resources, CV Raman Nagar MLA S Raghu was accused of illegally diverting government Covid vaccinations to a camp organised by him privately for residents of his constituency. On Monday, Manju – a resident of CV Raman Nagar Assembly constituency -- arrived at Bhuvaneshwari Urban Primary Health Centre (UPHC) at 5.45 am to collect tokens for Covid vaccination for his parents, who are diabetic.

The staff gave the tokens and asked him to return around 9.45 am and he did so, with his parents. They waited till 10.30 am, only to be told that vaccines will not be given there as the venue has been shifted to Shree Shakthi Ganapati Kalyana Mantapa, New Thippasandra. When he went there, the staff told him that his tokens were no longer valid. "A staff member said that we need MLA Raghu's permission to get the vaccine there. Finally, we returned home without my parents getting vaccinated. How can vaccination be shifted along with government doctors to a private venue, run by a politician?" Manju said.

In a video, another resident Kavitha said she came at 4 am to the UPHC and waited till 7.15 am to get the token. She was told the drive would start at 10 am. Later, she was directed to the choultry, where she waited for half-an-hour, only to be informed that she won't be given the vaccine there.

A board displaying the availability of vaccines put up at the entrance of Dasappa Hospital on Tuesday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

Nandish Revanna, general secretary, Youth Congress, Bengaluru Central, said, "On Monday, 200 tokens were given, but the doctor at the UPHC got a call and was told to shift the vaccination site. People who had been waiting since 4 am, including the elderly, left disappointed. The drive at the Kalyana Mantapa could have been done the next day, with prior announcement, and why was it being done under MLA Raghu's name?" he asked.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said that no political party workers are allowed to sit at any vaccination centre. MLA Raghu was not reachable for comment.

Will take action: Minister

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said vaccination at public places like marriage halls is permitted and valid. However, if it is already scheduled at a PHC, such people should be given vaccines on priority. "I will speak to the PHC doctor. If someone has done this, I will take action," he added.

'No forms, certificates needed for vaccination'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

EVEN as the state government has released a priority list of 20 categories for vaccination, many construction workers, taxi and autorickshaw drivers are unable to get the jab as the staffers at vaccination centres demand certificates and filled-in forms.

Many have been sent back as they are unable to find an open store to take a photocopy of the forms for submission. Beneficiaries have objected that they are unable to find places to get the forms photocopied or even download them. Some others state they are unable to get the application forms also, thus they are unable to take the vaccine.

To ensure that beneficiaries are not inconvenienced, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Tuesday said nodal officers are made in charge at each vaccination site to verify whether the beneficiary falls under that category or not. There is no need for anyone to bring any photocopy of any form, as the staffers will take care of all that. The nodal officers and the union members of various organisations and unions for drivers and so on will be present to verify the identity of the person.

He clarified that there was no need to get a copy of the forms to take the vaccine. He said vaccination is now being taken to people's doorsteps, apartment complexes, BMTC depots, for Metro rail construction workers and so on. "Now vaccination centres for those above 18 years have also been set up. While some wards will have one, others will have two sites, depending upon the population. Vaccination can be availed through walk-in or by booking slots on the CoWIN portal," he added.

'Health varsity has potential to make huge contributions'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS) can take the place of the erstwhile Indian Medical Service (IMS), said cardiologist Dr Vivek Jawali who is also a member of the newly constituted Medical Council of India (MCI). He was speaking at the 26th Foundation Day lecture at university on Tuesday.

The IMS was formed after the 1857 mutiny by the British queen and had both Indian and British medical personnel. It made a lot of original contributions towards the treatment of cholera, malaria, etc, and had great expertise in Indian health care infrastructure. However, it was disbanded in 1947. "Had it been functioning today, imagine what it could have been teaching the world, including America and England," said Dr Jawali. Furthermore, he said the RGUHS can evolve to be a fountain of research with lobbying capacity right up to Delhi. He emphasised the need for the institute to focus on research, quality, quantity and fundraising.

"We cannot translate researches by working in silos, and without translation there is no research," he said, pointing out how basic science research is also in silos such as the IISc, JNU and others, and also the big hospitals.

Criticising the plan to move the RGUHS campus outside Bengaluru, he said, "Our budgets should be spent on technologies rather than civil works. Translating research will bring funds you can never imagine," he added. He was also in favour of having a wall of fame for researchers within the medical community to stimulate publications.

He urged the institute to adopt a system that analyses and creates a scoring mechanism that can actually measure the quality of services.

New areas to get Cauvery water next year

ENS @Bengaluru

ALL villages that were brought under the ambit of the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) will get Cauvery water by December 2022, announced Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa after a review meeting of the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board on Tuesday

As many as 110 villages on the outskirts were added to the then Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike, making it BBMP. The CM said the authorities has completed laying of pipelines in all 110 villages , of which 51 villages are already getting Cauvery water. The remaining 59 villages will get it by December 2022. The sewage network is in the completion stage in these villages.

Regarding the additional 775 MLD of water to the city, the CM said Rs 5,550 crore worth project under Cauvery fifth phase will be completed in 2023. He also directed the officials to the complete project on time.

The CM also directed the BWSSB officials to bring down water wastage from 36 per cent to 20 per cent. He told them to prepare a blueprint for it and take it up on priority. He also checked about the BWSSB's monsoon preparedness.

02nd June: Now the good news. Venus, lady of love, is currently in a rather passionate position. Or, to put it another way, the planet of romance is able to indulge its dreams. It is just one alignment this week which encourages romance, boosting lovers, poets and artists everywhere. If you're a natural dreamer, this could be the perfect week for you.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Someone still appears to imagine that you will give way over a financial matter, yet colleagues may yet have the ground swept from under them. However, you must move forward in concert with your sympathisers. If you break ranks now you'll expose all your weaknesses.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Mercury is still on your side, and news received during the coming week should both gladden your heart and make it clear that your instincts and intuitions have been right all along. The point is that you seem to have all the best ideas, but you still have to persuade other people of that fact!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There is so much going on behind the scenes at work that it is difficult or even impossible to gauge the outcome of current developments. Put personal qualms to one side, press ahead with confidence and put the priority on completing unfinished emotional business.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Mars is preparing to take a more active role in your life and you will very soon have an undisputed opportunity to make your position clear. You must be ready to speak and act in no uncertain terms. After all, I know you're sensitive, but you're also quite capable of being as tough as anyone else when necessary.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Three planets, glistening away in the angles of your chart responsible for your career and professional hopes, leave you in no doubt that this is the time to push yourself forward. Pull every string possible to ensure that you are taken much more seriously.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Aside from current issues, there are pastures new waiting to be discovered and enjoyed if you are willing to make the right moves. Yet, for the next few days, travel plans must be open to fresh scrutiny, mainly because circumstances are about to change.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You must soon make a choice as to whether you will continue on your old course and maintain your existing lifestyle, or change direction completely. The pressure to alter your ways is still slight, but will intensify rapidly before long. In the meantime, have a breather!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There are ample indications that this can be a time of exploration, discovery and personal fulfilment for you. Partners will be more inclined to recognise your many gifts and abundant good points than in the past. And that has to be good news!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There are some signs that the tide of fortune is about to turn in your favour. It is likely that, initially, you may experience little more than a reduction of pressure, but even this will be sufficient to open a window of opportunity into a new emotional life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
One way or another you will have to alter your approach to career and personal interests. Be warned that niggling irritations could blow up unexpectedly - unless you deal with causes of discontent now. And, while you're at it, you'll turn a cash crisis to your advantage.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There is every reason to hope that current developments in your private life will give you the courage and confidence to implement wide-ranging and sweeping improvements in your professional affairs. One thing is certain - that a long process of personal change is only just beginning.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Allow others the freedom to do as they please and leave yourself free to concentrate on those interests and activities which have a deeper meaning and significance. You will certainly be able to gain the recognition you so thoroughly deserve.

Vijayendra's Delhi visit reignites leadership change murmurs

Trip assumes importance after BSY loyalists meet up on Sunday, but son says visit 'personal'

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA BJP unit Vice-President and Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa's son BY Vijayendra on Tuesday morning flew down to New Delhi, creating a buzz in political circles. Vijayendra's visit to New Delhi assumes importance in the background of hectic political activity last week over leadership change murmurs, Minister CP Yogeeshwara's personal jibes at Yediyurappa, and 18 MLAs meeting Yediyurappa at his residence on Sunday, where they pledged support and loyalty to the 78-year-old Chief Minister.

Vijayendra told TNIE that the visit was strictly personal. "I don't understand why there is so much buzz around it. I regularly visit New Delhi for personal work. That I am visiting Delhi doesn't mean I am here only to meet party leaders. I haven't even sought appointments with party leaders," he said.

BJP in-charge general secretary Arun Singh's office, too, denied any such meetings. Despite both leaders suggesting that there was no official meeting over Karnataka's political affairs, sources in the State BJP, however, suggested that Vijayendra had spoken with Arun Singh on Tuesday, and is likely to meet him again on Wednesday, before he returns to Bengaluru.

Yediyurappa's team is confident that there will be no leadership change, and insists that the senior leadership of the party is firmly behind the Chief Minister.

Sources in the party suggest that Vijayendra will raise issues of unrest in the party, in his capacity as State BJP Vice-President, especially after Yogeeshwara'a comments attacking the Chief Minister publicly.

MLAs like MP Renukacharya have minced no words in criticising Yogeeshwara publicly, and have even demanded his expulsion from the cabinet.

Ahead of monsoon, CM takes stock of agro scene

ENS @Bengaluru

WITH the monsoon set to hit Karnataka in the next week, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa on Tuesday took stock of the preparedness to assist farmers, by ensuring the availability of seeds and fertilisers.

After the meeting, Agriculture Minister BC Patil said rainfall in the state in the past three months has been much better compared to the same period last year, and good rain is expected in the next three months. "In the next five to six days, the monsoon is likely to enter Karnataka and sowing activities will start shortly. In some parts in Mysuru region, sowing has already started," Patil said. He said there is adequate stock of seeds, fertilisers and also, issues related to DAP supplies are resolved. Farm equipment is being provided to farmers on rent by 690 farm equipment centres.

The CM informed that as part of the relief package announced recently, Rs 15.23 crore was transferred to accounts of 36,327 horticulture and floriculture farmers. He also directed officials to release Rs 250 crore to clear dues towards agriculture produce procured under the minimum support price (MSP) last year. It is part of Rs 1,067 crore dues for the produce procured under MSP last year.

Officials at the district level have been asked to make preparations to deal with any flood-like situation.

25 YRS LATER, 'ACCIDENTAL PM' GOWDA STILL A POWERHOUSE

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

TWENTY-FIVE years after JDS leader H D Deve Gowda ascended the Prime Minister's seat — on June 1, 1996 — the party is celebrating the event, hoping to revive and reinvent the regional outfit.

Gowda (88), one of two prime ministers from this side of the Vindhyas, and Karnataka's kingmaker even today, had been catapulted into the top post after P V Narasimha Rao of the Congress failed to garner the numbers, as also Atal Behari Vajpayee of the BJP. Vajpayee had been sworn in Prime Minister, but fell short of numbers and resigned after 13 days. It was the United Front, a coalition of regional parties, which went on to form the government.

Celebrating this moment in history, the JDS on Tuesday launched a blitzkrieg of activities, with an eye on the 2023 election in Karnataka, and the bigger power game in 2024. JDS leaders said that with the BJP's performance slipping and the Congress failing to catch up, they smell an opportunity for another coalition in 2024, where the JDS could play a key role, just as it did in 1996. Gowda, who spoke exclusively to TNIE, said, "There is a possibility of a coalition in 2024, and Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee could play a role."

Former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy is the prime mover behind the activities. "We will have the 'abhiyan' for 25 days, till June 25, where important persons, politicians and journalists will recall the achievements and their memories of former PM Mr Deve Gowda and his tenure. Many youngsters do not know HD Deve Gowda and his contribution to the nation,'' Kumaraswamy said. "We will follow it up with a series of activities on April 21 next year, when he demitted office."

The party will be playing the 'Mannina Maga' card, highlighting the fact that the panche clad, ragi mudde eating farmer was the only Kannadiga to become Prime Minister.

Kumaraswamy recalled how the "accidental PM" had helped mop up Rs 30,000 crore black money, a stupendous feat in those days. He had many plans to bring back black money from foreign banks, but his government collapsed after differences with Congress leader Sitaram Kesari.

The JDS hopes to keep the momentum going till the Karnataka elections. "We want to come to power on our own strength in 2023. The people have given both BJP and Congress a chance, we are requesting them to give our party a chance. I have a five-point programme, Pancha Ratna, which will benefit people immensely," Kumaraswamy said.

Siddu runs a fever, in hospital

Bengaluru: Opposition leader Siddaramaiah was on Tuesday admitted to Manipal Hospital, Airport Road, in Bengaluru, for the second time in 10 months, as he was feverish. Covid tests done on Monday and Tuesday turned up negative results. Sources told TNIE that a CT-scan will be done on Wednesday to check his lungs. He is in a non-Covid ward, and another Covid test result is awaited. Siddaramaiah has taken both doses of Covaxin. The last time he was admitted to hospital for about a week was in August, when he was diagnosed with Covid. Siddaramaiah's office said all his engagements for Tuesday and Wednesday stand cancelled, and if the fever continues, his itinerary for the next few days will be cancelled. Most of his engagements were programmes to distribute ration kits in various constituencies. ENS

Milk powder sachets to be given to kids

Bengaluru: Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) is planning to supply milk powder to schoolchildren under the Ksheera Bhagya scheme. The State government had been giving a glass of milk to government school children under the scheme. However, as schools are shut, KMF is looking to compensate with milk powder. On a daily average, KMF gets 90 lakh litres of milk, of which close to 40 lakh litres are sold in sachets. After using milk for various other milk byproducts. a large quantity of unused milk is being converted to milk powder. KMF is now seeking funds from the State government to convert leftover milk into powder. Each child is expected to get half a kilo of milk powder. ENS

Greens fret over works on MP's property near sanctuary

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

CONSERVATIONISTS and locals are worried about ongoing construction work on private land abutting Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary (CWS), especially so as it is going on in full swing even during the lockdown.

Though the construction is on private land, work and constant movement of vehicles has been creating much disturbance on this forest patch. Conservationists and locals state that illegal sand mining is also happening in the guise of construction work, which will have a long lasting impact on the sensitive wildlife corridor and river course.

The property in contention belongs to Congress MP D K Suresh, brother of KPCC President D K Shivakumar. Suresh has 30 acres of private land abutting CWS in Hale Kote in R Shivanahalli village, of Uyamballi hobli of Ramanagar district. Forest officials told TNIE: "At present, a compound wall is being constructed, but we don't know what is going to come up as no permission has been sought and no information shared."

The officials said they were unable to control the movement of vehicles, including heavy-duty vehicles passing through the forest patch, as the work is on private land. Department officials added: "When there is right of way for villagers in private lands, vehicles also cannot be restricted. Wildlife movement is getting hampered but since it belongs to a leader on private area, we are helpless."

Reacting to the construction, Suresh said: "I am having a compound wall constructed on my property, to keep elephants and wild boar at bay. I want to take up agriculture and horticulture. M-sand is being used for construction."

● Doctors raise questions on professional ethics in differentiating between patients ● Experts say that like Remdesivir, the use of Amphotericin-B may be regulated ● Minister to ensure sufficient supply of medicine

Govt tells docs to use black fungus drug judiciously

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

INCREASINGLY coming under pressure in the wake of a severe shortage of Amphotericin-B, used to treat black and white fungus infections, the State Government has now instructed doctors to use their discretion in administering the drug on patients. Government officials are justifying the move stating that all patients do not need the medication immediately, and doctors should use it judiciously as there is a shortage.

"We are able to deliver only 500-600 vials a day, against the increase in demand. We are also equally frustrated as, first it was with Remdesivir, and now this. We cannot deliver the drug till we get it from the manufacturers. So, we are requesting doctors to use their discretion and administer the medication to patients on priority," a Health Department official, who did not wish to be named, told The New Indian Express.

As per government records, 733 patients in private hospitals and 328 patients in government hospitals are undergoing treatment for black and white fungus infections. Each patient needs four vials of Amphotericin-B. There is still no clarity on how many patients are admitted in medical colleges.

Doctors, however, stressed that doing so is unethical and against professional rules. "We cannot tell a patient that you do not need the medication because your condition is not so severe. What we are telling patients is that alternative medicines will be used till Amphotericin-B is available. Every patient is equal and the disease should be immediately controlled at the early stages itself and not wait till the condition gets bad," a doctor at a private hospital said, adding that the government must work to get more doses and companies should not delay supplies.

Experts pointed out that the time is not far when, like Remdesivir, the use of Amphotericin-B will also be regulated. "This is because the demand is shooting up the same way and blackmarketing should not start. The government should learn from the past and make wise decisions, instead of asking doctors to used their discretion, based on a patient's condition," a Technical Advisory Committee member said.

Meanwhile, Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar said that black fungus infection is treatable. "However, in some cases, where the infection has reached the eyes, removal becomes inevitable to weed out even the tiniest trace of the infection so that it does not invade the brain. Hence, the eyes are removed to stop the spread to the brain and not due to lack of medicine. Treatment of black fungus will be decided by ophthalmologists and ENT specialists based on the condition of each case. I am in constant touch with the Union Minister to ensure sufficient supply of the medicine," the minister added.

B'LURU HOSPITALS SEE MUCH HIGHER DEATHS

Data from just three city hospitals shows that the fatalities are much higher, at 41 deaths. Apollo Hospital has seen three deaths, Minto Eye Hospital and Victoria Hospital saw 34 deaths and Bowring and Lady Curzon Hospital reported four deaths. Narayana Nethralaya and Aster CMI Hospital reported no deaths, while seven other hospitals did not share data.

KARNATAKA UNDER-REPORTING BLACK FUNGUS CASES, DEATHS?

RANJANI MADHAVAN AND KARTHIK K K @Bengaluru, Mysuru

AMID growing allegations by elected representatives over fudging of the Covid-19 data, The New Indian Express has found discrepancies in figures of Mucormycosis too, commonly known as black fungus, being reported by the Karnataka Health Department.

On Tuesday, the Health Department revealed that there were 557 cases of black fungus infection and six deaths in Bengaluru. However, data from just three city hospitals shows that the fatalities are much higher, at 41 deaths. Apollo Hospital has seen three deaths, Minto Eye Hospital and Victoria Hospital saw 34 deaths and Bowring and Lady Curzon Hospital reported four deaths. Narayana Nethralaya and Aster CMI Hospital reported no deaths, while seven other hospitals did not share data.

According to the official data, as of June 1, Mysuru reported over 35 black fungus cases and no deaths, but data from the Mysuru war room, available with TNIE, shows a significant difference, not just in the number of cases, but also in the deaths reported.

As per the May 31 report, a total of 66 cases of black fungus cases were reported in Mysuru and eight patients have been discharged while 50 of them are currently under treatment at various hospitals. What is more worrying is the fact that eight people have succumbed to the life-threatening fungal infection.

The data from the war room showed that over 45 Mucormycosis cases were reported in KR Hospital alone, of which six patients succumbed to the infection, two were discharged and 37 are still under treatment. As any as 21 cases were reported in six other private hospitals in the city of which two patients died.

When asked about this, a doctor from the Mucormycosis ward of KR Hospital confirmed that 45 cases were reported in the hospital and added that there might be some miscalculation in the state health bulletin. The doctor expressed concern as wrong data might affect the treatment of patients, as the central government allocates the drug Amphotericin-B based on the data provided by the state. This crucial drug is already in short supply in the state.

However, Health Commissioner Dr K V Thrilok Chandra claimed that the state was not under-reporting the number of cases and deaths, but there was an issue with the updating of figures. "Mysuru district might not have updated all the figures on the portal. All district surveillance units must update figures received from hospitals. They might not have received the complete figures," he said.

3rd wave: K'taka to start genome sequencing of kids

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA has started collecting samples of children infected with Covid-19 for genome sequencing. The neuro-virology lab at the National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS), which conducts genome sequencing as part of the Indian SARS-CoV2 Genomic Consortia (INSACOG), will analyse the samples to check for variants of the virus and the serology for anti-Covid antibodies in infected children.

Dr V Ravi, renowned virologist and nodal officer for Genomic Confirmation of SARS-CoV-2 in Karnataka, said, "The samples will soon start coming. We will look at children representing four groups and the samples fitting those criteria will be sequenced."

The samples, according to Dr Ravi, will be collected from those children who have tested positive and are severely infected. They should also either be international travellers, from clusters or breakthrough infections and should have severe symptoms.

As in adults, severe paediatric Covid-19 cases have been documented more frequently in children with conditions such as asthma, chronic lung disease, diabetes, immuno-suppression or other high-risk traits or conditions, explains Dr Dr Srikanta J T, Consultant - Paediatric Pulmonology and Sleep Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital.

Several countries have done studies on the genome samples collected in children and found that high prevalence is usually of whichever virus has been circulating amongst the adult population in that city or state, said noted virologist Dr Jacob John, former Professor at the CMC Institute, Vellore.

PAEDIATRIC WARDS IN ALL DIST HOSPITALS

To prepare for a possible third wave, the State Government has decided to set up paediatric wards in all district hospitals. Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar said that a dedicated 70-80-bed paediatric ward will be set up in all district hospitals. Additional paediatricians and nursing staff will also be recruited wherever necessary. A special training session will be conducted through RGUHS to train MBBS and other technical staff. He said that till 19 years of age, children should be treated in consultation with paediatricians and awareness should be created regarding this. Meanwhile, seven genomic labs will be established across the state to study the mutated strains found in the second wave. These labs will come up at five medical colleges, Wenlock Hospital, Mangaluru and Vijayapura District Hospital. This study will help understand the virus better and for development of better medicine and treatment protocol.

Kodagu doctor pitches for Ivermectin use in treatment of mild Covid cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Madikeri

A retired surgeon from Kodagu has written to Union Health Minister Union Health Minister Dr Harsh Vardhan suggesting the use of Ivermectin as a safe and economical drug to treat Covid-19 patients.

Dr Kavery Nambisan, who completed her surgical training in England and FRCS in London, now runs a private clinic in the rural part of Ponnampet in Kodagu. In her letter, she has asked the Union minister to endorse Ivermectin as an early treatment for Covid-19. She explained that Ivermectin was largely used in India a few years ago as a deworming tablet and has proven effective to treat Covid now.

"A scientist in Australia conducted an in-vitro study last year and published a paper on how Ivermectin is an effective drug to treat Covid-19. This was practically followed by a doctor in Bangladesh and the drug proved to be effective. An Indian origin doctor in South Africa, Dr Shankara Chetty, has treated over 4,000 Covid-19 patients successfully with Ivermectin," Dr Kavery told TNIE. She added that states like Odisha, Goa and Uttar Pradesh are largely using Ivermectin as an early treatment for Covid-19 patients.

The administered drug is incorporated in the new treatment guidelines in the country for treating mild Covid-19 infections. However the World Health Organization had recently stated that studies on the use of Ivermectin to treat Covid-19 patients remain inconclusive and until more data is available the WHO recommend to use it only within clinical trials.

"From last October, I have treated Covid-19 patients in rural areas of Kodagu with Ivermectin. The minute the patient shows signs and is suspected to be infected with Covid-19, Ivermectin course has to be started. Whenever a positive patient has approached me, I have prescribed a course of Ivermectin for the entire family - this will stop the spread of Covid-19," she said.

In her letter, Dr Kavery has stated that Ivermectin, particularly in the early stage of the disease, is highly effective and is very safe as it does not have any side-effects. "It is safer than any antibiotic currently in use and it is cheap," she has written.

She affirmed that more than 20 large clinical, peer-reviewed trials around the world have shown that the drug reduces virus multiplication effectively in 74% of patients and prevents second or inflammatory stage. " Even if an Ivermectin user gets Covid, it will be a mild attack and not serious," she maintained.

She feels the vaccination drive across the country will take another eight to ten months to complete, during which time the unprotected population will continue to get infected and transmit the disease. "The repeated mutations will lead to a cycle of repeated vaccinations and booster and India will remain in the pandemic mode for many years. The use of Ivermectin will reduce Covid-19 infections, transmission, virus mutations and death," she says.

Ivermectin safe drug, no side-effects, says doctor

A physician from a private hospital in Bengaluru said, "Ivermectin is a safe drug and there are no side-effects. It is generally prescribed on the first three days of the onset of symptoms. There are studies which show that it helps in reducing the multiplication of RNA viruses. However, more studies need to be done on the drug, if it has been really helpful in Covid-19 patients."

Active cases drop, but death rate still high

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE number of active cases in Karnataka dropped to below 3 lakh cases, bringing the state to second position in the country, while Tamil Nadu tops the list. Around mi-May, Karnataka had become number one in the country with the highest number of active cases.

With the drastic increase in the number of discharges and the sharp drop in the number of new Covid-19 cases, the number of active cases in the state has been dropping consistently. The active cases on May 18 was the highest at 6.03 lakhs, after which it consistently started to decline. By May 25, the active cases were 4.24 lakh and on May 30, there was a further drop to 3.42 lakh cases. On Tuesday, the active cases further dropped to 2,98,299.

The state recorded 14,304 new cases on Tuesday with 29,271 discharges and 464 deaths. The total positives are now 26,18,735. Though the active cases have been dropping while there is an increase in the number of daily discharges, the number of deaths in the state has consistently been hovering around 400 every day.

Karnataka is second in the country with 29,554 deaths after Maharashtra, which has reported 96,198 deaths so far. The mortality rate has also been going up in the state. As on May 24, with 529 deaths in a single day, the mortality rate was 1.05 per cent. However, by May 27, with 476 deaths, it increased to 1.08 per cent and by May 31, there was a further increase to 1.12 per cent with 464 deaths.

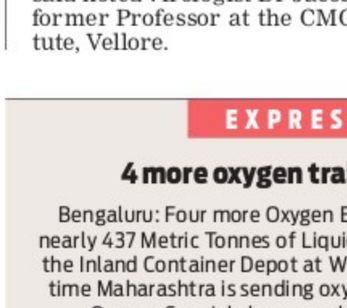
Nagarahole tribes refuse jabs, keep officials out

PRAJNA G R @Madikeri

"WE are forest dwellers. Even when we fall sick, we depend on forests for our medicines. Now, all of a sudden, the government is forcing a vaccination upon us. What if we have an adverse effect?" questions Ramesh, the head of Nagarahole Tribal Settlement in Kodagu district.

The settlement has over 1,500 tribals and all of them have declined to take the Covid-19 vaccination. A black, handwritten board stands at the entrance of the settlement, which states, "Covid has spread across the country. Hence, central, state or district officials or any other government official or any other resident from outside the settlement is prohibited from entering without the permission of the village head or villagers. Trespassers will be fined."

Further, when the panchayat officials visited the settlement to register the names of the tribals for the vaccination drive, they were shouted at by the women, who said, "Our tribal lord will save us. We do not need any medicine or vaccination." The panchayat officials had to return without any success and are having a hard time convincing the community to take the vaccination.



A board put up outside the tribal settlement, prohibiting entry of officials

When asked about the vaccine hesitancy, Ramesh said, "Most of us in the settlement lack awareness. The officials cannot suddenly force us to take the medicine. They will have to conduct an awareness programme and convince our people."

He added that the settlement has been Covid-free so far and suggested that the government complete the vaccination drive across towns and cities that are highly affected by the virus.

"After vaccinating all others, they can then vaccinate us as we are all healthy now. Also, since we do not take English medicines, we are skeptical about taking the vaccine. What if someone has an adverse effect and dies? Will the department take responsibility for it?" he questioned.

In a bid to provide a much-needed push to the electric mobility sector, the State Government on Tuesday amended the Karnataka Electric Vehicle and Energy Storage Policy, 2017, by offering subsidies and incentives to manufacturers.

Depressed, retired man jumps from 15th floor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TENSION gripped an apartment construction site in Koramangala, after a 61-year-old man jumped to his death from the 15th floor, on Tuesday.

The deceased has been identified as Vivek Madusudan Vaidya, a resident of Koramangala, who worked at private company before his retirement. He was reportedly suffering from depression. He lived alone, ever since divorcing his wife 10 years ago. The couple has two sons, who live abroad.

Police said that around 11.30 am, Vaidya walked to the site and entered the premises on the pretext of purchasing an apartment. He asked the supervisor to show a flat, and Kamalesh, who was in charge, took him to the 15th floor. Vaidya showed interest in the flat.

Subsequently, Vaidya asked Kamalesh to move on, as he wanted to take some pictures of the flat. With Kamalesh a little ahead, Vaidya jumped to his death. Shocked, Kamalesh alerted other staffers, who found him lying in a pool of blood. They alerted Vivek Nagar police, who have filed a case of unnatural death.

'Govt has failed to open old age homes in dists'

HC directs state to file affidavit on how it plans to set up facilities for elders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OBSERVING that there is a complete failure on the part of the State Government to comply with its statutory obligation, the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday directed the State Government to file an affidavit stating how it proposes to follow the rules on setting up old age homes in every district to accommodate indigent senior citizens.

The court also directed the State Government to assess the requirement of old age homes in each district and provide these details in the affidavit, which should be filed within a month.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj said it is mandatory for the State under Section 19(1) of the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act to establish and maintain the required number of old age homes at accessible places in a phased manner.

The minimum requirement is at least one old age home in each district which should accommodate 150 senior citizens who are indigent. But the State Government has completely failed to implement provisions of the Act which came into force in the State on April 1, 2008, the court noted.

It directed the State Government to take a stand on whether it proposes to frame a scheme to manage these old age homes through voluntary organisations and NGOs, their standards and various types of services to be provided to the senior citizens, including medical care and means of entertainment.

On the affidavit filed by Geetha B Patil, Deputy Director, Department for the Empowerment of the Differently Abled and Senior Citizens, in response to an order passed on January 5, 2021, the court said there is not a single statement in the affidavit on complying with the statutory obligations.

It speaks only about the grant-in-aid being given to run 30 old age homes and another 45 old age homes run by NGOs. It also stated that the government is funding two old age homes in Bengaluru Urban district which are not necessarily meant for indigent senior citizens, the court said.

The hearing was adjourned to July 6, 2021.

WOMAN CANES NEIGHBOUR FOR NOT WEARING MASK PROPERLY, BOOKED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Sadashiva Nagar police on Tuesday booked a case of assault against a woman who allegedly caned another woman for not wearing her mask properly. The video footage of the incident went viral on social media and news channels, soon after.

The accused, Advaitha, is a resident of Sadashivanagar. A senior police officer said around 7.30 am, Advaitha had taken her dogs out for a walk when she saw her neighbour Bhavana passing by. She shouted at Bhavana for not wearing her mask properly and allegedly hit her with a stick. When Bhavana objected to her behaviour and started arguing, the locals who witnessed the incident, alerted police and Bhavana filed a case against her.

Based on the complaint, the police questioned Advaitha. She claimed that she is an IAS officer and shouted at the police too. Later, she was released on station bail and the police also took statements of the witnesses for further investigation, the officer said.

Lured with free food, domestic help loses gold

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A woman was allegedly cheated by a man who offered to arrange a food kit for her, and fled with her gold jewellery.

Mallamma (56) works as a domestic help. Police said she was heading to work at 8.45 am on Monday, while a motorist accosted her, mentioning that someone was giving away ration kits and cash to the needy, and inquired where the Chowdeshwari Temple was. When she guided him, he told her that even she would get cash and a ration kit if she went with him.

"She went with him on the scooter and before going to the temple, he asked her to remove her gold, saying she may not get the rations if she was seen wearing jewellery. He kept it in the scooter's boot and went near the temple, asking her to wait. Then he sped away. The woman waited for some time and realised she was cheated as he did not return. She has lost 12 grams of gold," police said.

No personal vehicles to distribute food to needy: Cops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru city police have said people cannot bring their personal vehicles out on the pretext of distributing food packets among the needy, and they should use goods vehicles or must carry out the exercise through delivery companies.

The police have clarified on this as there have been instances where people are seen using it as an excuse to bring their vehicles out.

"We have come across cases in which people are carrying food packets in cars and two-wheelers and seized many such vehicles. On Tuesday, a BMW car was seized near the Bommanahalli Signal. The driver claimed that he was distributing food to the needy, and around 10 food packets were found in the car," a police officer said.

Hence, the police have clarified that anyone who wants to distribute food packets to the poor and needy can do so by using goods vehicles. "Many organisations are already rendering this service. They can also use delivery companies for the same. But they cannot distribute in cars or on bikes," an officer added.

HAVE TO LIFT LOCKDOWN SOON: STALIN

In a video appeal to public, Tamil Nadu CM says it all depends on people's cooperation in curbing Covid spread

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

"LOCKDOWN cannot go on and on. We have to end it soon. But, it depends on people's cooperation in breaking the chain of Covid spread," Chief Minister MK Stalin said in a video appeal to the general public on Tuesday. "Indeed the livelihood of a section of people has been affected by this lockdown and it cannot be extended for a longer time. The infection can be arrested only if we break the chain," he added.

Stating that the complete lockdown has started yielding results, the Chief Minister said new cases in Chennai have come down from the 7,000-levels to around 2,000 now, and within a few days, it could be contained fully. In the western zone, including Coimbatore, the infection was high in the previous week, but it has started coming down in the past couple of days, he added. "So, there is no way out to contain the infection except for a complete lockdown. Everyone should understand that. The government has made arrangements to ensure supply of vegetables and groceries. Ration shops are also working. Soon, relief kits will also be given to rice cardholders," said Stalin.

Even while the lockdown was in force in Tamil Nadu, many people were out on GST Road at Chrompet, Chennai, on Tuesday | ASHWIN PRASATH

Touching upon a few of the steps taken by the government, the CM said, "Beds are now vacant in many hospitals. On a daily basis, around three lakh people are being vaccinated. Similarly, around 1.70 lakh samples are being tested per day. No other State performs such a large number of tests."

Referring to his visit to the Covid ward in Coimbatore's ESI hospital, Stalin said, "Many have commended my visit while a few others chided me affectionately, and advised that I have to protect myself. But I have given myself to protect people of Tamil Nadu. We are facing the second wave as we failed to put a full stop to the first one. Three weeks have passed since the DMK government assumed office, and we have to plan for the future in many departments. To execute that quickly, we have to first break the Corona wall."

Wildlife NGOs help PHCs in forest areas

MEERA BHARDWAJ @Bengaluru

WILDLIFE organisations and activists are doing their bit to tackle Covid by adopting primary health centres (PHCs), donating medical equipment, accessories and providing food and medical kits to people living on forest fringes.

The local field staff of Centre for Wildlife Studies (CWS) are directly helping 150 PHCs in four districts of Chamarajanagar, Mysuru, Udupi and Uttara Kannada. These health centres have a severe shortage of essentials, like face shields, oximeters, PPE kits, thermal scanners, gloves, masks and medicines.

With their field base at H D Kote, one of their teams delivers essentials to 12 PHCs around Nagarhole and Bandipur. They supply testing and protective equipment to the staff at PHCs. "Thanks to 115 donors, this week, we are supporting 12 PHCs. We have a long way to go as the number of PHCs in need of help has grown to 230. Another three teams are getting ready to work in central Karnataka and Goa," says Krithi Karanth, Chief Conservation Scientist, CWS.

Mahadevswamy, a CWS staffer, said, "In my village, symptomatic patients are going to PHCs in tempos, two-wheelers and even by walk. These health centres have their hands full." Covid has not spared communities around Bannerghatta too. An NGO, Rocha India, through its campaign, has set up a rural Covid isolation centre, which is fully equipped to handle 80 patients at a time.

Avinash Krishnan, Senior Research Officer, Rocha India, said, "Medical relief materials have been provided to affected communities. Earlier, we distributed food to 1,500 community members around Bannerghatta."

A few conservation groups, like the Wilderness Club and Srishti Foundation, are helping tribals in H D Kote, as the pandemic and lockdown has hit them badly. One of the volunteers, J Manjunath, said, "Many of our activist friends and Lions Club have responded but we need more funds to support tribals facing hunger. We have mobilised resources to provide food to hungry children and 300 provision kits and 50 medical kits will be given initially in areas around Nagarhole Tiger Reserve."

No law to deal with plaints against wives: Madras HC

HARISH MURALI @ Chennai

EXPRESSING 'concern' over there being no provisions to deal with complaints against wives, filed by husbands, in the Domestic Violence Act, 2005, the Madras High Court has commented on the sacrament of a marriage, and said that the word has "lost its meaning".

The court said the present generation must understand that marriage is not a contract to be broken at the drop of a hat, but "a sacramental event" in a person's life. "Of course, the word 'sacrament' has no meaning after the Domestic Violence Act, 2005, that approves live-in relationship, came into effect," said the judge.

The observations were made by Justice S Vaidhyanathan while quashing a suspension order of a government veterinarian, issued after his wife lodged a domestic violence complaint against him. According to the petitioner, he had moved a divorce application against his wife in 2015 because she deserted him. The family court also allowed the application on February 18, 2020. However just four days prior to the verdict, the wife filed a case under the Domestic Violence Act, that led to his suspension, said the petitioner.

The judge, noting the timing of the wife's complaint, observed, "It clearly shows she had anticipated the divorce order and created unnecessary trouble to the petitioner. Unfortunately, there is no provision like the Domestic Violence Act, for the husbands to proceed against their wives."

Karnataka amends EV policy to offer more incentives

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to provide the much needed impetus to the electric mobility sector, the State Government on Tuesday amended the Karnataka Electric Vehicle and Energy Storage Policy, 2017, by offering subsidies and incentives to component manufacturers. The move aims to make Karnataka more competitive in comparison to other states.

Manufacturers of cells, batteries and other components for electric vehicles stand to benefit from the move. The Cabinet had approved the decision on May 4. According to the Government Order, issued on June 1 by the Commerce and Industries Department, the big move is the 15 per cent subsidy to be offered on capital expenditure on land value (fixed value assets) up to a maximum of 50 acres. This will be paid over five years in equal annual payments. As per the existing policy, an investment subsidy of 20 per cent is given, but it will not exceed Rs 20 crore.

The other big move is to boost production of EV components in the state. "Production linked subsidy of 1 per cent will be given on the company's turnover for a period of five years beginning from the first year of commercial operations, subject to a maximum cap of 50 per cent of VFA," the order said.

There is no specific subsidy as of now. The only incentive offered is an interest-free loan from banks on the net GST paid to the State Government for a period between 8 and 13 years. The order also said a technical committee will be set up to define and certify EV components seeking incentives and concessions under the policy.

Chairman of the Energy Committee of the Federation of Karnataka Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Ramesh Shivanna, and promoter of Bengaluru-based Sadhbavana Energy, told TNIE, "The move will attract more investments to the state."

'Aadhaar-based DBT has ensured zero identity theft'

OFTEN, middlemen and some corrupt bank officials used to have a field day at the expense of the beneficiary. "There are zero identity thefts today because of the Aadhaar-based DBTs," the IAS officer added.

In the last three years, Rs 13,200 crore in more than 500 lakh transactions has been transferred to beneficiaries through the Aadhaar-based DBT platform in Karnataka. The benefits of 117 schemes across 20 departments have been disbursed through DBT. Out of these, 37 schemes pertain to the agriculture sector. "Some of the major schemes are PM-KISAN State sector, milk incentives, minimum support price (MSP) and Covid package schemes. In the last three years, Rs 1,000 crore, in about 320 lakh transactions, have been disbursed to farmers," he added.

Explaining about how fraud in DBTs in the agriculture sector has been eliminated, Chawla said that the State has a data base of 70 lakh farmers with details and extent of their land holding and the crops they grow. The database is called Farmer Registration and Unified Beneficiary Information System (FRUITS). "For availing benefit of government schemes, they have to provide their farmer ID. In the case of MSP, the verification details are carried out through Bhoomi - the online land records - and similarly for crop insurance," he added. As per the Bhoomi records, there are 70 lakh farmers and 250 lakh agricultural plots in Karnataka.

Besides farmers, honorariums of Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHA), anganwadi workers and pourkarmikas are being credited using Aadhaar-based DBT. The government has developed a DBT mobile app for beneficiaries to track their payment status. "We are in the process of on-boarding all government schemes through Aadhaar-based DBT. Use of facial recognition to claim pension benefits is being tried as a pilot project in Mandya district. It has been kept on hold because of Covid," he added.

K'taka CJ, judges pay homage to lawyers, staffers who died of Covid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

JUDGES of the Karnataka High Court, led by Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka, on Tuesday paid homage to advocates and staffers of the judiciary who died due to Covid-19. The State has lost as many as 218 advocates, five staffers of the high court, and 24 staffers in district and trial courts, as per official data.

The judges had gathered on the front lawns of the high court. Condoling the deaths, Chief Justice Oka requested them to observe two minutes of silence to pay homage to the departed souls.

Advocate-General Prabhuling K Navadagi, chairman of Karnataka State Bar Council L Srinivasa Babu, and Advocates' Association of Bangalore (AAB) president AP Ranganath were also invited.

On July 20, 2020, Chief Justice Oka's gesture of welcoming a staffer back to work with a rose, when she returned after recovering from Covid-19, had drawn the attention of people across the country. Referring to this, AP Ranganath said that as per tradition, judges and other office-bearers would gather in Court Hall-1, to condole the death of sitting or former judges or senior counsels. Now, the chief justice has broke tradition to offer condolences en masse. It should come as solace to grieving family members, he said.

After the event, Ranganath met Home and Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister Basavaraj Bommai and requested him to announce a package for the legal fraternity, especially advocates and women lawyers with a rural background. He also requested that compensation be paid to families of advocates who died due to the pandemic. Ranganath told TNIE that the minister had responded positively.

MLA LAUNCHES MASS FEEDING PROGRAMME

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Raichur

ANNA Daana (mass feeding) is yeoman's service to mankind, and Devadurga MLA K Shivanagowda Naik should be appreciated for feeding thousands of people of Devadurga taluk, Raichur MP Raja Amareshwara Naik said here at Devadurga recently. Inaugurating the Anna Dasoha programme organised by Shivanagowda Naik, he said this feeding programme taken up by the MLA should become an inspiration for politicians and other philanthropists.

Talking about the programme, Shivanagowda Naik said his mother is his inspiration, and it is she who had asked him to feed people who were genuinely in distress due to the Covid-19 pandemic. It is true that giving food to starving people is a service to God, the MLA said.

Naik said he would provide 1,250 food packets to each of the 33 Gram Panchayats of Devadurga taluk every day for one month, and 24 vans would take the food to the villages. He said that providing food to patients, doctors and medical staff of 46 hospitals (including private hospitals) of the taluk had commenced on May 14.

The Devadurga MLA said his followers and well-wishers have already distributed masks to 25,000 people in Manvi, Sirwar and Lingsugur taluks. In the coming days, it is proposed to distribute masks and provide food in Yadgir, Surpur, Gangavathi, Shahpur, Kustagi and Kanakagiri for one month.

Shri Budi Basaveshwara Shivacharya Swamiji of Gabbur offered puja to the vans carrying food to various Gram Panchayats. Pontiffs of a number of mutts, Raichur DCR Venkateshkumar and SP Prakash Nikkam were also present.

TTD won't prepare Anandaiah's medicine

Vijayawada: The Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD), which had earlier planned to manufacture and distribute the herbal medicine of Nizamapatnam based practitioner B Anandaiah, would not manufacture the medicine for now. TTD Trust Board chairman YV Subba Reddy said though they earlier had plans to manufacture and distribute the medicine, they have shelved their plans as the AYUSH and other departments have not certified the medicine as an ayurvedic one. "Preparing the medicine, which is not certified as an Ayurvedic medicine, in the TTD's ayurvedic college is against the rules," Subba Reddy said.

After 'suspending' vax drive, TN receives over 4L doses from Centre

Chennai: Amid a dire vaccine shortage, Tamil Nadu on Tuesday received 4,20,570 additional doses of Covishield from the Central government. These will be used for people aged above 45 years. The Centre's supply came hours after the State government announced that it would be suspending vaccination till June 5 owing to the shortage. Health Minister Ma Subramanian, speaking to reporters at the Rajiv Gandhi Government General Hospital in Chennai, said the doses will be distributed to all districts according to the population.

Forever indebted to cops, govts, says Hyd man released from Pak jail

PINTO DEEPAK @ Hyderabad

HYDERABAD resident Prashanth Vadinam's release from the Pakistani jail he was lodged in for months came sooner than anticipated for his family. In fact, the techie himself didn't expect to be released immediately after his prison sentence. "They (Pakistani officials) were going to brand me a spy, and I would have faced charges for spying too. But very soon, they found out that I was not in the country for spying," said Prashanth, who had been caught crossing the Pakistan border illegally in 2017.

After he was deported and handed over to the emigration officials at Attari border, the Cyberabad police escorted him to the city on Tuesday, where he was reunited with his elder brother Srikanth on Tuesday. He and his brother left for their native place in Visakhapatnam after completing all the official formalities. It was earlier reported that Prashanth had left home in 2017, and set out to Switzerland on foot to meet his lover. Prashanth later confirmed that he wanted to travel to Switzerland for personal reasons, and that he decided to walk all the way to the country as he did not have sufficient financial support. His family, who thought he had gone missing, had lodged a complaint with the police.

Prashanth

Cyberabad Commissioner of Police VC Sajjanar said they had registered a missing case, but their investigation did not yield any lead for a long time. "Finally, we learnt about his whereabouts. We thank the Union Home Ministry and the External Affairs Ministry for taking special interest in this case, and bringing Prashanth home," he said.

Thanking the Police Department, State and Central governments, Prashanth said that he would forever be indebted to them. "There are several people from different parts of India languishing in Pakistani jails. But I am one of the fortunate few to return home safe. All thanks to the efforts of my family and the authorities," Prashanth said.

Recalling his days in Pakistan, Prashanth said that he was taken good care of by the people. When asked if he was mistreated, Prashanth said, "Criminals are treated in Pakistan the same way they're treated in India. But the people are very friendly like ours. Many a times, they have shared food with me. So many things are being said about India and Pakistan, but the people there are very loving."

CENTRE MUST RESET POLICY FOCUS TO PUSH CONSUMPTION

The Indian economy managed to wring a 1.6% growth in Q4 of FY21, but a closer look reveals some dim details. First, growth was partly due to Q3's low base. On a sequential basis, the gap between headline and core GDP (excluding agriculture and government spending) widened, with the latter contracting by 1.8% in Q4, laying bare the dismal contribution of the private sector that refuses to budge. Now, all we need is a mere 5.5% growth rate that will add the lost ₹10 lakh crore to national output and put us back at pre-Covid levels. But what's important to note is the lost 24 months and why the rebound needs to be faster than the ordinary course with all components—consumption, expenditure and investments—playing their part.

Such collective contribution is essential as the second wave and the ongoing lockdowns have already created a break in the growth normalisation process. Several economic indicators are pointing towards pushback in recovery. While mobility and consumption indicators are turning in a sequential decline, others like auto sales, PMI manufacturing and services, E-way bills, and power consumption have all moderated over the past few months. Still, all estimates point towards lower growth in Q1, and not the growth contraction seen last year. That said, the important question is whether consumption demand will make a comeback this time around.

For one, the virus spread in rural areas is pervasive, adding to rising urban unemployment. While some are being absorbed under the MNREGA programme, their earnings will be much lower. As if income losses aren't enough, some of them (even urbanites) endured an obscene rise in healthcare expenses, which means discretionary spending will take a severe knock. Moreover, the demand surge was accompanied by rate cuts last year, but there's no such luck this time, with dangers of rising inflation lurking around. In the event of consumption demand remaining weak, government spending must come to the rescue. The Centre, which till now has refrained from giving a demand-side push, must reset the policy focus to push consumption up to avoid sub-optimal growth in the future.

RESPECT OSAKA DECISION, FIGURE OUT A SOLUTION

After Naomi Osaka's first round exit during Wimbledon 2019, the Japanese tennis star, bidding to win her third Slam then, broke down. She cut short her post-match press conference by telling the press corps that she felt like crying. Anybody who has followed the career of Osaka—already one of the most successful active women's players with four Slams to her name—will know that she is a shy person, who is 'most awkward', according to herself. So it wasn't really a surprise to read Osaka's pre-French Open tournament statement about 'boycotting' the media. It was, to paraphrase her statement, a move to safeguard her mental health. That was criticised by some, including players, media and the Slams. The four Slams got together, threatening to expel the Japanese from future Majors if she continued her boycott. On Monday, Osaka withdrew from Roland Garros as she didn't want this issue to become a big distraction.

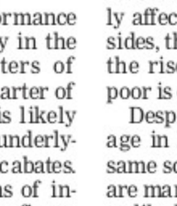
Keeping aside everything else, the 23-year-old's decision needs to be respected. Even if Osaka may have slightly erred in releasing a pre-tournament statement—she could have quietly gone about her way without fulfilling her media obligations (each such infringement will invite a $15,000 fine) till she felt okay. The tennis fraternity and the wider sporting world could have respected the decision of someone who has fought against racial injustice in her still fledgling career.

The focus is back on mental health. On the one hand there are legends who can face the media whatever the occasion is, while there are others who are reluctant to join an interaction. Here in Slams, it's part of a deal where professional players make an earning. Osaka too alluded to that saying there are certain rules that need to be revisited. Of late, mental health has become a serious issue in sports. Stars too are humans and can suffer. At the same time, a controlled media interaction will lose its very sanctity. Going forward, there has to be a better acknowledgement about issues surrounding mental health and the media's role in being unwitting participants. Because, ultimately, nobody wins here.

What are the policy options before the government to resuscitate the economy from the second shock and speed up growth?

TRIGGERING AN ECONOMIC RECOVERY AFTER SECOND WAVE

AMIT BANDRE



CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE
Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

After ravaging the country for almost two months, the second wave of the pandemic seems to be finally receding—a crucial development that raises expectations of gradual reopening of economic activity. While the caseloads are still high and there are significant imponderables about infection spread, questions abound about what could be the likely fallout of the second wave on the economy as it reopens after extended regional lockdowns to contain the viral spread.

At the outset, the economy is flashing mixed signals. Among the positives include the robust growth of India's exports since December 2020, as global recovery, particularly of advanced countries, has given export buoyancy to India. A sustained rebound in exports would help the Indian economy at a time when domestic demand is under significant strain.

Second, corporate performance is showing good recovery in the third and fourth quarters of FY2021. While the first quarter of FY2022 may be weak, it is likely that we will revert to the underlying trend once the pandemic abates. Similarly, certain sections of industry such as IT services, financial services and e-commerce are doing well. Some sectors may face cost pressures on account of the rise in commodity prices but this would be offset by moderation in operational costs. Further, the government sector, which comprises a major chunk of the economy, is also not significantly impacted in terms of jobs and incomes.

Despite this, there is growing evidence that the second wave would pose downside risks to the economy. Already, a clutch of high-frequency indicators is showing a weaker sequential momentum. What is also worrisome is the rural spread of the second wave and the resulting distress that could affect investment opportunities and demand. The impact of poor health facilities in the hinterland could also be felt on the summer harvest.

The risks to industry, especially small businesses, have risen due to the weakening of balance sheets since 2020. The regional lockdowns could hit their supply chain. Service sector revival is also particularly affected due to restrictions. Besides, the unemployment rate is on the rise and distress among the poor is on an upswing.

Despite this, the economic damage in FY22 would not be of the same scale as the first wave. There are many reasons for this. For one, unlike last year, firms are more experienced and have reinvented management response to the pandemic. Secondly, unlike last year, vaccines are present now and the government is taking proactive measures to make them available. Third, the world economy has started looking up and countries such as the US and UK, with which India has strong economic linkages, are showing signs of revival. Fourth, the base effect of last year is in our favour.

Businesses are hopeful that the waning of the second Covid wave, a sped-up vaccination drive, release of pent-up demand and prospect of good monsoons would mean better times for the rest of the fiscal. It is anticipated that while the brunt of the pandemic on the economy would be mostly borne by Q1, the damage would become much less in the second quarter and onwards.

The mood could become better towards September-October as the festive season sets in and the sentiment could get a lift. But that is only if the third wave does not hit us, a fair chunk of the population has been inoculated and vaccines are readily available.

To help MSMEs with stressed balance sheets and protect jobs, it is recommended that the Emergency Credit Linked Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) that was for ₹3 lakh crore be expanded to ₹5 lakh crore

The question arises as to what the policy options are before the government to resuscitate the economy from the second shock and speed up growth.

At this juncture, it is important to prioritise and step up the level of vaccination and ensure that by August, the country would have around 15 crore doses available per month. For bringing efficacy and transparency in distribution, an ideal policy would be two vaccine quotas with 75% going to the Centre and the rest to the private sector. The Centre should then allocate the doses to the states depending on requirements. This would contribute significantly to de-risk the country from a third wave.

Further, the economy should be opened up in a thoughtful and calibrated manner. This would help minimise the risks emanating from the impending third wave of Covid and provide requisite time to the government to strengthen its health infrastructure and vaccination.

Second, in view of the widespread distress, the government should announce immediate short-term fiscal support to protect livelihood and minimum requirements of those worst impacted by the pandemic. This could be income support in the form of Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) and food rations, and remaining generous with MNREGA, where demand for work is outstripping supply. This would improve consumption demand while preventing rural distress at the bottom of the pyramid.

Similarly, to help small businesses with stressed balance sheets and protect jobs, it is recommended that the Emergency Credit Linked Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) that was for ₹3 lakh crore be expanded to ₹5 lakh crore.

Going forward, swift implementation of capital expenditure schemes announced in the Budget, especially for infrastructure, would ramp up demand in the economy.

Third, a boost to exports is critical at this stage to take advantage of the global tailwinds. Hence, the Remission of Duties and Taxes on Exported Products (RoDTEP) scheme should be announced immediately with a higher allocation to enhance the competitiveness of Indian exports.

To conclude, the government has the onerous job of striking a fine balance between saving lives and restoring the economy. It is hoped that with appropriate interventions, it would be possible to contain the infection and bring the economy back on track.

THE MISTAKES IN OUR MUCORMYCOSIS APPROACH

DR SOHAM D BHADURI
Health policy expert, Chief Editor of 'The Indian Practitioner'

DR CHANDRAKANT LAHARIYA
Epidemiologist, public policy & health systems expert

Public health challenges are those that have solutions beyond the perimeters of narrow medical interventions. Regarding a potential public health menace as merely a medical challenge until numbers rise to hideous levels is bad practice. The mucormycosis (commonly and mistakenly called 'black fungus') epidemic superimposed on the second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic is a classic case in point. Within months, it has gone from a rare condition caused by ubiquitous and largely innocuous fungi to being declared an epidemic by a number of Indian states. Unfortunately, it continues to garner scarce recognition as a problem that warrants steadfast public health measures.

Silent disasters: A study conducted by the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) between June and September 2020, with data from 17,534 Covid patients in 10 hospitals across eight cities, reported that nearly 3.6% (in the range of 1.7% to 28% between hospitals) of total patients developed a secondary infection, with around 78% having been reported two days after hospital admission and an average mortality of 56.7%. However, none of these infections were mucormycosis. Notwithstanding the possibility of missed mucormycosis cases during the first wave (one of the authors is personally aware of such a case), it raises the question as to why it has transformed into a veritable onslaught during the second wave. This, along with the high rate of secondary infection in many facilities and high mortality amongst Covid cases with secondary infection, should first and foremost have inspired a detailed epidemiological investigation months ago (irrespective of whether another wave would come or not) to identify and rein in the responsible factors, rather than making guesses, which we continue doing even today.

The incidence of mucormycosis has been increasing in the last couple of decades as indicated by some single- and multi-centre studies, possibly attributable among other factors to the rising prevalence of diabetes and suitable climatic conditions in India. A study across 16 institutions between September and December 2020 noted a 2.5 times increase in mucormycosis infections. Since December 2020, a palpable rise in cases can be made out from clinician testimonies. Technically, therefore, mucormycosis becoming an epidemic is not a recent phenomenon, but one that is many months old and is only bursting at the seams now.

The ICMR study also noted that nearly three-fourth of patients with secondary infections were given antibiotics from the 'Watch' and 'Reserve' lists of the WHO, which includes drugs having a greater propensity to bacterial resistance and must be reserved for certain special situations. Another study on Covid patients at the trauma centre of AIIMS, Delhi, noted multi-drug resistance in 60% of studied isolates with overall resistance up to 84%. One can expect the situation to have only worsened in the second wave. These forebode the horror of widespread antimicrobial resistance soon after the pandemic due to their indiscriminate use, which could be a much bigger and more enduring concern than mucormycosis.

The public health approach: On the one hand, overenthusiastic media reporting on mucormycosis has trivialised a public health crisis into a matter of frivolous colours (black, yellow, orange fungus and so on). The public health aspect of the situation has been sidelined and the voices of clinicians involved in treatment have been amplified, with a near absence of public health voices and perspectives in television discussions. On the other hand, our health system approach to mucormycosis fails to move beyond arranging doses of liposomal Amphotericin B and loosely pronounced advisories on rational use of drugs, with insufficient attention to epidemiology. A secondary epidemic superimposed on a pre-existing pandemic must not be accorded secondary priority. In fact, there is a range of distinctive reasons that make a public health response extremely crucial for combating the fungal threat: high fatality rate; high burden of comorbid risks like uncontrolled diabetes in the population; considerable toxicity profile of the drug used for the treatment; shortage of the drug and its prohibitive price; and so on.

Mucormycosis becoming an epidemic is no recent phenomenon, but one that is many months old and is only bursting at the seams now. Our health system approach fails to move beyond arranging doses of liposomal Amphotericin B, with insufficient attention to epidemiology

The factors held responsible for mucormycosis have been widely discussed but not followed through adequately. The potential roles of industrial oxygen; impure water used in steam inhalers; unclean oxygen cylinders; early, excessive and indiscriminate steroid use; and so on have been customarily discussed but not fully explored. The crisis at hand merits an urgent and detailed epidemiological and scientific study, and must not merely be seen as an aggravated clinical condition. The findings of such studies should be made public and each state government should take corrective measures so that we could avoid a similar future situation, though the pathogenic agent may be different. Similarly, a passive attitude towards antibiotic misuse and not taking due public health cognisance and measures can prove very costly in the not-so-distant future.

The fact that a high proportion of these problems are hospital-acquired points towards strengthening infection prevention and control (IPC) in the hospitals. There is a need for robust conception and enforcement of standard treatment guidelines with overarching clinician participation. Robust ongoing surveillance and reporting; strong public campaigns to promote infection prevention, control practices and early treatment seeking; and disincentivising over-the-counter drug consumption are warranted. More needs to be done towards alleviating the disastrous financial impact of prohibitive conditions like mucormycosis than just subsidising them under public health insurance schemes since the latter see very limited effective utilisation. The cost of treating such secondary infections should be fully borne by the government, irrespective of the treatment facility being public or private.

Soon, cases of mucormycosis shall come down and the crisis will be forgotten as if it never happened. This has perennially been the tragic tale of the Indian public health response—the crucial lessons are hardly ever assimilated well enough to deter a future crisis. This has happened numerous times in the past with multiple crises, such as the deaths of children due to acute encephalitis syndrome (AES) or deaths related to hospital fires. Far too much extraneous noise and undue emphasis on medical interventions have diverted the attention from core issues. Why does a rare condition end up becoming an epidemic in India? It is one of the many questions we need to answer in order to prepare ourselves for future epidemics and pandemics.

Fuel prices keep rising

The Centre seems completely unconcerned about the difficulties people are facing. The sharp drop in bank deposit rates has affected senior citizens. Unemployment is hurting the poor and middle income groups. Amidst this, the daily increase in fuel costs is ridiculous. It is high time that fuel is brought under the GST regime.

Sinking economy

With the ongoing Covid cataclysm and now a sinking economy, it is a double whammy that has hit the common citizen (GDP growth at historic low, June 1). Rather than focusing on these issues and trying to solve them, parties, both at the Centre and states, are busy scoring political points. The common man is caught in this crossfire wishing that this nightmare ends soon.

Centre can misuse it

The Centre wants social media outlets to do its bidding. The main contention is it wants the traceability of the originator of messages involving criminal and anti-country acts. But even innocuous messages that question the Centre's policies can be termed anti-national.

How is this FoE?

The government gave social media platforms three months to comply with the rules. Yet some have not taken any action. What is wrong with the government asking social media platforms to reveal the originators of posts that feature/promote child sexual abuse and other criminal acts? How is this freedom of expression?

Frivolous PILs

The Delhi HC rightly dismissed the petition to halt Central Vista work. Terming it a project of national importance, the HC also imposed a ₹1 lakh fine on the petitioner. This should deter activists from filing frivolous PILs.

District unlock norms include 70% vaccination among vulnerable ones

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

The Centre on Tuesday listed two crucial parameters for opening up districts after weeks of heavy restrictions to contain Covid-19: test positivity rate of less than 5% for at least a week; and a minimum of 70% vaccination coverage for the vulnerable groups.

There are 344 districts in India as of now that have a positivity rate of under 5%. But there is no publicly available data yet on the districts that are anywhere near the 70% cut-off point of vaccination among vulnerable groups. The vulnerable population comprises people above the age of 60 as also the 45 + with comorbidities.

"Gradual lifting (of lockdown) will not witness a massive surge. However, we have to ensure that vaccination is prioritised. The vaccination rate for the vulnerable population must be up to 70% and Covid-appropriate behaviour should be followed," said Balram Bhargava, ICMR Director General. The World Health Organization recommends a positivity rate of under 5% for at least two weeks before an outbreak can be considered to be under control in a geography.

As coronavirus cases across India are now showing a declining trend, many states that had resorted to lockdowns are slowly opening up but some like Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Chhattisgarh have extended the Covid-related curbs with specific relaxations.

MAHARASHTRA MORTALITY RATE BEGINNING TO EBB, CM SETS TARGET OF ZERO

Mumbai: Maharashtra has seen a major drop in Covid-19 cases in the last few days. Mortality rate has also fallen, by almost 0.40 per cent, placing the state at number six in the countrywide state tally, according to the state health department. The state's mortality rate was more than the national average a few days back. Punjab's mortality rate now is the highest across India right now, at 2.5 per cent, followed by 1.94 per cent in Uttarakhand, 1.69 per cent in Delhi, 1.68 per cent in Goa, and 1.66 per cent in Sikkim. In Maharashtra, the mortality rate at the moment is 1.65 per cent. The state was ranled third on this list not too long ago. Maharashtra has 57,13,215 positive cases with 94,030 deaths. Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray has said that the district administrations must work towards zero mortality.

State Health Minister Rajesh Tope said the government has identified the districts where positive cases and mortality were high and executed micro-planning to tackle the pandemic situation.

BRICS FMs agree on Covid vaccine IPR waiver

Jaishankar says aim is inclusive & representative international system as member nations agree on joint statement

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

BRICS leaders on Tuesday reiterated their commitment to equitable access to Covid vaccines and agreed to support the proposal for IPR waiver on the vaccines at the WTO.

"The ministers reaffirmed the need to use all relevant measures during the pandemic, including supporting ongoing consideration in WTO on a Covid-19 vaccine Intellectual Property Rights waiver and the use of flexibilities of the TRIPS agreement and the Doha Declaration on TRIPS Agreement and Public Health," a joint statement from the leaders after the BRICS Foreign Ministers' meeting noted.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, who chaired the meeting, said the principles guiding this grouping remain consistent. "We strive for a fair, just, inclusive, equitable and representative multipolar international system," he added.

Sources confirmed all BRICS countries called for supporting the consideration in WTO on a Covid-19 vaccine IPR waiver and the use of flexibilities of the TRIPS agreement and the Doha Declaration on TRIPS Agreement and Public Health.

"They also reiterated the need for sharing of vaccine doses, transfer of technology, development of local production capacities and supply chains for medical products, promotion of price transparency and called for exercise of due restraint in the implementation of measures that could hinder the flow of vaccines, health products and essential inputs," said the statement.

Discussions also revolved around the reforms in the global multilateral system and the leaders adopted and released the 'BRICS Joint Ministerial Statement on Strengthening and Reforming of the Multilateral System'.

Sources said for the first time, BRICS foreign ministers have agreed on a common, standalone joint statement on reforming the multilateral system. "They have also agreed that such reform has to cover all key multilateral institutions, including the UN and its principal organs (UN Security Council, General Assembly, ECOSOC, the Secretariat, etc), international financial architecture (IMF, World Bank), multilateral trading system (WTO, UNCTAD) and the global health governance system with the WHO at its core. In particular, BRICS FMs agreed to instill new life in the discussions on reform of UN Security Council," they added.

According to the statement, the ministers acknowledged that global economic governance in an increasingly interconnected world is of critical importance for every member.

SC asks Centre for details of orphan plan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday took note of the Centre's welfare scheme to provide relief to children who have lost parents to the Covid-19 pandemic. The Centre has announced that the PM Cares Fund will be used for this purpose. The court sought details of the plan and the mechanism devised to monitor it.

A bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao and Aniruddha Bose also directed the states and Union Territories to appoint nodal officers of the level of secretary or joint secretary who will interact with its amicus curiae Gaurav Agrawal for providing the information on orphans, their identification and the welfare measures.

Slating the hearing for next week, the court said it would hear the cases of 10 states first — Telangana, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Karnataka, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Bihar and Jharkhand — where more kids have lost guardians. The court has been hearing an application, in a pending suo motu case on the spread of Covid-19 in children's homes, filed by the amicus curiae, highlighting the woes faced by kids orphaned by the deadly virus.

On May 29, Prime Minister Narendra Modi had announced a number of welfare measures for children who lost their parents to Covid-19, including ensuring a corpus of ₹10 lakh when they turn 23 and providing for their education.

The PMO had said fixed deposits will be opened in the names of such children, and PM-CARES Fund will contribute through a specially designed scheme to create a corpus of ₹10 lakh for each of them. This will be used to give a monthly financial support from 18 years of age for the next five years to take care personal requirements during the period of higher education. On reaching 23, they will get the corpus as a lump-sum for personal and professional use.

Study on alternatives not conclusive

THERE are also studies published on vaccinating children with polio vaccines, but that is not proven on a mass scale. "The country needs to wait for the specific vaccine and, when there are no proper studies and enough data to vaccinate children with polio drops, etc, it is better all such things are avoided," Dr Jagadish Chinappa of Manipal Hospitals noted.

Dr Asha Benakappa, paediatrics head at Chandramma Sagar Hospital and Research Centre, Bengaluru, said, "Both are different viruses with different receptors. We can only say the immune system will be activated, as children have missed their routine vaccination and annual viral infections, because of respiratory hygiene and closed schools. This will boost the immune system."

"It is like training the warriors inside the body with some skills to fight the virus, if not specifically Covid-19," said Dr Dinesh Kumar Chrila, director of intensive care services at Rainbow Hospitals, Hyderabad. According to him, there are two scientific reasons why vaccinating children under 10 with flu shots is a good idea because it would prevent co-infections if affected with Covid-19 and reduce severity. Also, it will ensure there is no misdiagnosis.

Terminal 3 to quarantine for Indian flyers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THERE will be a separate and dedicated terminal at London's Heathrow Airport for arrivals from countries designated as 'red list', such as India, for a higher risk of Covid-19 transmission.

As per officials, travellers on direct flights from such destinations will go through Terminal 3 and move directly to a government-approved quarantine facility booked at their own expense. The development came after the London airport's staff raised fears for safety because of overcrowding, amid concerns that travellers arriving from 'red list' countries were mixing with others.

"Red list will likely be a feature of UK travel for the foreseeable future... We're adapting Heathrow to this by opening a dedicated arrivals facility in Terminal 3 from 1 June for red list passengers on direct flights," a Heathrow spokesperson said.

Not doing away with Covishield second dose, no vaccine mixing either: Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMID confusion that the government may do away with the second dose of Covid-19 vaccine Covishield, the Centre on Tuesday clarified there was no change in the existing dosing protocol, while also insisting that mixing and matching of vaccines was not a possibility in the near future.

"There is some confusion and misunderstanding but let us make clear that we will keep following the gap interval of 12 weeks between two Covishield doses and everyone will get two doses of Covishield," said V K Paul, member, health, Niti Aayog and head of the national Covid-19 task force.

Addressing a press conference, he said mixing of doses is not a protocol anywhere in the world as of now, and it remains an unresolved scientific question which only research can settle. "Possibility of a positive effect (of mixing doses) is also plausible but a harmful reaction cannot be ruled out either," he said, noting that research is still underway. "Mixing of vaccine is not the protocol yet, the same vaccines, that is Covishield and Covaxin should be administered for both doses. Stick to the SOP."

Last week, in a briefing by the Union health and family welfare, Paul on being asked a question related to inadvertent mixing of vaccines in Uttar Pradesh, had remarked that vaccinating people with two different vaccines is "scientifically and theoretically possible" but "it lacks scientific evidence at this time".

Meanwhile, authorities added that it will be able to offer vaccines to 1 crore people per day by mid-July or August.

NHRC issues advisory on rights of informal workers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has issued three advisories to the Centre, states and Union Territories, recommending measures regarding mental health of vulnerable populations, release and rehabilitation of bonded labourers and safeguarding rights of informal workers.

In a letter to the secretaries of Union Ministries of Health and Family Welfare, Labour & Employment and Women & Child Welfare, the chief secretaries of states and administrators of UTs, the rights panel directed them to implement its recommendations and submit reports on action taken in four weeks.

The Commission's advisory on right to mental health focuses on 10 key areas where action is required – access to mental healthcare, dissemination of information, awareness, grievances redressal and review board, extending outreach of mental health support, support for special groups, suicide prevention, health insurance, media sensitivity in reporting and promoting research.

Two key areas of action

The advisory focuses on two key areas of action. Protecting migrant workers in transit, enhancing employment and socio-economic security

On the issue of violation of the rights of bonded labourers during the pandemic, the NHRC has observed that the second wave has exacerbated their problems, making them more vulnerable to human trafficking. Governance at all levels must ensure that medical resources are provided to the bonded labourers so that they don't suffer further, the panel said.

With unprecedented reverse migration during the first wave and disruptions in agricultural value chains, Covid has impacted the rural economy and livelihoods of informal and agricultural workers. Evidence points to a deep economic crisis of job loss, reduced wages and shrinking manufacturing sector, the Commission noted.

Bihar postpones panchayat polls

Patna: The Bihar government has postponed panchayat elections in the wake of the Covid-19 situation and decided to form consultation committees to continue the functioning of the three-tier panchayats till the situation is conducive. The decision was taken at a state cabinet meeting on Tuesday. It was also decided not to extend the tenure of nearly 2.5 lakh elected panchayat representatives, which is ending on June 15, and instead bring in an ordinance to amend the Bihar Panchayat Raj Act to enable the setting up of the consultation committees.

Haryana achieves 16% of target

Chandigarh: With an aim to ensure 100% vaccination, the Haryana government has administered 57.11 lakh doses in all age groups so far. This comes to about 16% of targeted doses. An official of the Health Department said the government is looking at administering 1.76 crore doses, including 1.05 crore beneficiaries in the age group of 18 to 44. The remaining 71 lakh are in the age group of 45 to 60 years and above. Around 3.5 crore doses are to be administered to these beneficiaries.

Officials from the local municipal body said they have posted a person for cremation after getting complaints that bodies were not cremated properly.

SEXUAL ASSAULT CASE

Victim shaming order acquitting Tejpal contested

Goa moves HC, says case fit for retrial as lower court focused on indicting woman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mumbai

THE Goa government in its amended petition in the Bombay High Court said the acquittal of journalist Tarun Tejpal's in a sexual assault case was a fit for retrial as the lower court had shown a lack of understanding of a victim's post-trauma behaviour and censured her character. The appeal, filed before the Goa bench, was amended to bring on record the judgment and include further grounds against the acquittal of Tejpal.

The government said the trial court "considered the evidence given by defence witnesses as gospel truth, but at the same time discredited without any finding the evidence given by the victim and the prosecution witnesses". It also claimed that the trial court completely ignored the most telling piece of evidence in the case (the apology e-mail) "which established the guilt of the accused beyond a shadow of doubt".

On May 21, sessions judge Kshama Joshi acquitted Tarun Tejpal, former editor-in-chief of Tehelka magazine, in the case where he was accused of sexually assaulting his then woman colleague in a lift of a a five-star hotel in Goa in November 2013 when they were attending an event. The trial court in its judgment questioned the woman's conduct, noting she did not exhibit any kind of "normative behaviour" such as trauma and shock which a victim of sexual assault might plausibly show.

The Goa government later filed an appeal against the acquittal. In its amended appeal, which will be heard on June 2, the state government said the trial court had "lost sight" of the fact that it was Tejpal who was an accused and was on trial, and not the victim.

"The entire judgment focuses on indicting the complainant rather than trying to ascertain the culpable role of the accused," the appeal said.

The finding of the trial court on how a woman, who has been a victim of sexual assault, behaves is "unsustainable in law" it said.

Academics for SC-monitored SIT probe in Bengal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

ALLEGING large scale post-poll violence in West Bengal had displaced many people, around 600 academicians on Tuesday issued a joint letter, demanding a Supreme Court-monitored special investigation team (SIT) probe, besides the intervention of the National Human Rights Commission, into the issue.

"Today, a large section of the Bengali society is living in fear. Those who voted against the TMC are being victimised. Many of them are under attack from the TMC supported storm-troopers — their properties vandalised and livelihoods destroyed. There are reports that dozens of people, including women, have been killed in post-poll violence," said the letter penned by the academicians, who also claimed that thousands of people have migrated to the adjoining states of Assam, Orissa and Jharkhand due to fear of getting killed or raped by hooligans supported by the ruling party in Bengal.

The letter signed by academicians, including former vice-chancellors of varsities, Prakash Singh, Govardhan Das and J S P Pande, comes in the wake of Governor Jagdeep Dhankar's visit to the affected areas. Dhankar was allegedly shown black flags as he interacted with a few victims of violence. BJP leaders claimed the Ministry of Home Affairs would soon deliberate on a report submitted by a team that did a spot assessment.

The letter comes close on the heels of the attack launched by the BJP leaders on Mamata for skipping a review meeting with the PM last week.

FORMER CHIEF SECY's RESPONSE SOUGHT

Kolkata: A notice served on West Bengal former chief secretary Alapan Bandhopadhyay hours before his retirement had sought his response on why action should not be taken against him under the Disaster Management Act for skipping a post-cyclone review meeting with the Prime Minister on May 28. Bandopadhyay was appointed as Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's chief advisor soon after his retirement. The Ministry of Home Affairs directed Bandhopadhyay to "explain in writing" in three days as to "why action should not be taken against him" under Section 51 of the DM Act. The section pertains to punishment for obstruction for refusal to comply with a direction given by the Centre.

'Frivolous pleas making top court dysfunctional'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday expressed concerns over frivolous matters making the court dysfunctional. A bench of Justices D Y Chandrachud and MR Shah made the remark while hearing a fresh application in a consumer dispute case, which it had wrapped up in March.

During the hearing, Justice Chandrachud observed that the final order had already been issued in terms of what the petitioner wanted, but he chose to come back with a trivial issue. "You are here now only because you want to vet some documents before you deposit the rest of the money for the house you have been allotted. This is how the Supreme Court is being made dysfunctional," he said.

Justice Chandrachud added that the judges in the top court have not been able to spend enough time on serious matters because of the deluge of unimportant matters.

"We as an institution must not spend our time dealing with frivolous matters. This wastes the time of the court and suggests that we have a lot of time," said the judge.

In a separate case Justice DY Chandrachud, during a hearing on a bail request, remarked he prayed to God vaccinations for all were done at the earliest so the SC could go back to physical hearings. He was responding to the petitioner's lawyer commenting, "I will pray to God so that next time when this case comes up there will be a physical hearing in the Supreme Court."

Work on to rescue 5 miners out of Meghalaya's rat hole

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE fate of five miners, who got trapped inside a rat-hole coal mine in Meghalaya, is still not known as the search and rescue operation on Tuesday was affected by the rains. The miners were trapped after a dynamite blast flooded the pit on Sunday evening in the coal-rich East Jaintia Hills.

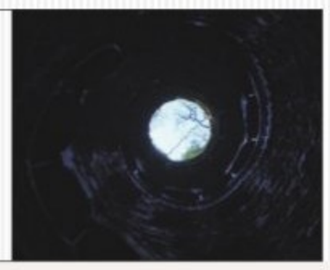
Teams of the State Disaster Response Force and the Fire Service were engaged in rescue operation, while NDRF would be roped in if there is no breakthrough by Wednesday.

East Jaintia Hills District Magistrate, E Kharmalki said some 35 personnel of the SDRF and the Fire Service were engaged in the operation. "The problem is that the coal pit is more than 500-foot-deep and there is water. We have to make use of the crane which the miners used to go down," Kharmalki said. State's Home Minister Lahkmen Rymbui said the previous owner of the coal mine had been detained but as he was found to be Covid positive, he could not be interrogated.

Quoting eye witnesses, East Jaintia Hills Superintendent of Police Jagpal Singh Dhanoa said the mine owner Nizam Ali, who was absconding, had done nothing to rescue the trapped. Instead, he threatened the survivors and chased them away. Opposition Congress slammed the government, recalling it had repeatedly denied illegal coal mining activities.

DEATH TRAP

What is it?
It is a network of small tunnels with a narrow opening fit enough for small children or thin men to enter



Why is it dug?
As commercial mining the hilly Meghalaya is not viable, rat holes are dug to illegally extract coal

Why is commercial mining unviable?
First, the terrain is unsuitable. Secondly, coal in northeast is high in sulfur content, which reduces energy efficiency

What has the govt done?
While rat-hole mining has been criminalised in a majority of northeast states, it persists in Meghalaya owing to lack of jobs and the necessity to make a living. It was also banned by the NGT in 2014

Why is it common in Meghalaya?
As it involves miniscule investment and offers handsome returns to the prospector, such mines pockmark the East Jaintia hills

What are the related issues?
As coal extracted from rat holes is stored near waterbodies, the water turns acidic. Coal is a major source of air and water pollution

Swapan Dasgupta renominated to RS

New Delhi: President Ram Nath Kovind renominated columnist and BJP leader Swapan Dasgupta to Rajya Sabha for the remainder of his term. Dasgupta was a nominated member of the Rajya Sabha before he bagged the BJP's nomination to contest the West Bengal Assembly elections. He had resigned from RS to contest the poll. His term will end on April 24, 2022.

No let up in criticism of Punjab CM, says Sidhu

Chandigarh: There would be no let up in his criticism of Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh, Congress leader Navjot Singh Sidhu said on Tuesday. His comment came after a meeting with a three-member panel formed by Congress president Sonia Gandhi to resolve issues in the state leadership. "My stand and issues concerning Punjab remain unchanged," he said.

Speculation rife as Fadnavis calls on Khadse day after meeting Pawar

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

A day after he met NCP chief Sharad Pawar, former chief minister Devendra Fadnavis on Tuesday called on his loyalist-turned-bitter foe Eknath Khadse at the latter's village in Jalgaon district. While the meetings sparked speculations about a new political arithmetic in Maharashtra, Shiv Sena MP Sanjay Raut sought to downplay the development, quipping Sharad Pawar may have advised Fadnavis on how to be a "good opposition leader".

The NCP, too, maintained there was nothing political about Fadnavis' visit, with party chief spokesperson Nawab Malik saying the Maha Vikas Aghadi under Uddhav Thackeray was going strong. However, analysts speculated that Fadnavis was BJP's emissary to Pawar, with whom the saffron party has been seeking an alliance for a long time. "Devendra Fadnavis may have been sent by Narendra Modi and Amit Shah to reopen the dialogue with NCP at a time it is being criticised for its Covid handling. BJP is on a sticky wicket and they require a leader of Sharad Pawar's stature to tackle the situation. However, it is too early to say anything," political observers said. Fadnavis' visit to his former political Guru and the present foe Khadse, too, raised eyebrows. Before leaving BJP, Khadse had accused Fadnavis for poorly treating him and forcing him to resign as minister on flimsy grounds. Khadse was not given ticket in 2019 polls, instead his daughter Rohini was made the BJP candidate. She was steamrolled by Shiv Sena candidate.

Asked about any political angle to the meeting between Pawar and Fadnavis, Shiv Sena leader Raut said the BJP leader himself termed it as a 'courtesy meet'. Earlier also there were speculations in political circles when Raut met Fadnavis in September last.

However, Raut had then said the meeting pertained to an interview of Fadnavis which he planned to conduct.

BJP top panel in UP amid rumours of reshuffle

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Lucknow

WEEKS after the ruling BJP's poor show in the three-tier panchayat polls and amid growing speculation on Yogi Adityanath's cabinet reshuffle, a high-powered panel landed in the state capital to draw the strategy for the 2022 Assembly poll in the in politically-crucial Uttar Pradesh.

Party's national general secretary (organisation) B L Santosh and party's in-charge for UP Radha Mohan Singh reached Lucknow for a two-day meeting with top functionaries and senior ministers. After meeting Yogi Adityanath, state party president Swatantra Deo Singh and state general secretary (organization) Sunil Bansal on Monday evening, the two leaders held discussions with senior functionaries from other parts of the state.

Besides, there were closed-door meetings with senior ministers, including two deputy CMs Dr Dinesh Sharma and Keshav Prasad Maurya, and other ministers, including Siddharth Nath Singh, Suresh Khanna and Satish Chandra Dwivedi on Tuesday.

According to BJP sources, the detailed report of the two leaders would form the foundation of the party's strategy for polls, which are barely ten months away.

While the deputy CMs Dr Dinesh Sharma and Keshav Prasad Maurya said the meetings were part of devising a roadmap for next Assembly polls, the central leaders are believed to have delved into various issues, including coordination between the party and government, handling of the pandemic's second wave.

Speculations are rife about the possibility of bureaucrat-turned BJP MLC A K Sharma's inclusion in the cabinet as deputy CM or a minister.

Hawa Mahal gets fresh coat of paint

A slump in footfalls during the lockdown came as a breath of fresh air for the Hawa Mahal, which underwent a refurbish. The fort in Jaipur, classified as a World Heritage City by UNESCO, is a big draw among the tourists for its famed 953 windows. The five-storey building was last painted in 2013. It is a representative of the unique Rajput- Mughal architectural blend. Built by Maharaja Sawai Pratap Singh in 1799, it is designed in the shape of Lord Krishna's crown. Over the past eight years, its exterior paint had faded, but now, the fort has been restored to its former glory

Jalore sisters break piggy bank to donate money to Sonu Sood

Two sisters from Sanchor in Jalore district made a contribution towards the fight against Covid by sacrificing their piggy bank savings. The sisters managed to pool `16,530 and give it to actor Sonu Sood. Mahi (10) and Pratha (6) would get to have a video chat session with their idol for their pain. Sonu Sood, sharing their video of the children breaking their piggy bank, described them as, "richest children of the world having world's biggest bank". Mahi is a class IV student while Pratha studies in class I.

Lion Tripur beats coronovirus after 28-day fight

After 28 days of special care, which also included customised diet regimen, Tripur, an Asiatic lion in Jaipur's Nahargarh Biological Park, emerged victorious against Covid-19 on Saturday last. He was tested positive for the infection during an RT-PCR test done by the Indian Veterinary Institute, Bareilly. He was immediately isolated, while his big cate cohabitants, including 13 lions and tigers, were tested. Veterinarians focused on bolstering Tripur's immunity by putting him on a special diet and treatment regimen. His samples were collected for testing every week for a month. With Tripur surviving the scare, the officials are now preparing for reopening the Lion Safari at the park.

Israeli parties in final sprint to build anti-Netanyahu coalition

They have until a minute before midnight on Wednesday to form an alternative alliance

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI politicians battling to unseat veteran Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu were racing against the clock on Tuesday in talks to build a "change" coalition spanning the political spectrum.

They have until a minute before midnight on Wednesday to cobble together an alternative governing alliance that would bring down the right-wing leader known as Bibi, who has ruled Israel for the past 12 years. The high-stakes push is led by former TV presenter Yair Lapid, a secular centrist, who on Sunday won the crucial support of right-wing religious nationalist Naftali Bennett, a tech millionaire.

"The coalition negotiation team sat all night and made progress toward creating a unity government," a Bennett spokesman said in a statement, adding that further talks were scheduled for the afternoon.

Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu is on trial for criminal charges of fraud, bribery and breach of trust while in office, accusations he denies | AFP

In order to gain a 61-seat majority in the 120-seat Knesset, their unlikely alliance would also have to include other left and right-wing parties and likely require the support of Arab-Israeli politicians.

In order to bring down the 71-year-old Netanyahu the fragile grouping would have to unite, despite their deep ideological differences on flashpoint issues such as Jewish settlements in the Israel-occupied West Bank.

Lapid, leader of the Yesh Atid party, was tasked with forming a government by President Reuven Rivlin after Netanyahu again failed to win a majority following Israel's fourth inconclusive election in less than two years.

He has reportedly agreed to allow Bennett, who heads the Yamina party, to serve first as prime minister of a "national unity government" in a power-sharing agreement before taking over half way through their term.

Israel's latest political turmoil comes as Netanyahu, the country's longest serving premier, is on trial for criminal charges of fraud, bribery and breach of trust while in office, accusations he denies.

It also follows the latest flare-up of fighting between Israel and Palestinian militants in the Gaza Strip, which ended after 11 days of deadly violence with an Egyptian-brokered ceasefire on May 21.

Netanyahu, in power for 12 straight years after an earlier three-year term, had warned on Sunday of "a left-wing government dangerous to the state of Israel". The premier, who heads the right-wing Likud party and has developed a reputation as a wily political operator, was scrambling to scupper the new alliance against him.

Likud's lawyers tried to hobble the emerging coalition by challenging Bennett's right to serve first as prime minister, given that it was Lapid who was charged with forming the government. AFP

'PakVac' developed with China's help

Islamabad: Pakistan on Tuesday launched its homemade Covid-19 vaccine named 'PakVac', which it developed with the help of its ally China in order to vaccinate people in the country and bring under control the spread of coronavirus cases in the nation. Special Assistant Health Dr Faisal Sultan said that Pakistan is trying to overcome the difficult challenges and turn them into opportunities with the help of friends. "We found our friend China closest to us in overcoming the Covid-19 challenge," he said at the launch ceremony here, adding that China provided the raw material for the vaccine but still it was not easy to develop it. Dr Sultan said the local mass production of the vaccine will begin in the coming days. The development came as the positivity rate fell below 4 per cent for the first time in three months. PTI

Police arrest 11 suspected militants in Papua

Jakarta: Indonesian police said they have arrested 11 suspected Islamic militants accused of plotting attacks at several Christian churches in eastern-most Papua province. On Friday, the elite counterterrorism squad arrested 10 suspects in several raids in Papua's Merauke district after receiving information about planned attacks in the province, a predominantly Christian region in Muslim-majority Indonesia, Merauke police chief Untung Sangaji said. The arrests led police to another suspect who was detained on Sunday. AP

THAILAND

Protest leaders released on bail

Bangkok: Two prominent Thai pro-democracy protest leaders were granted bail on Tuesday, weeks after contracting coronavirus in the kingdom's overcrowded prison system. Activist Panupong "Mike" Jadnok and human rights lawyer Anon Numpa are both facing multiple charges under royal defamation laws. A Thai criminal court on Tuesday granted them bail, Thai Lawyers for Human Rights said. Anon has been in custody for more than 100 days and Panupong for 85. A third activist facing royal defamation charges, Chukiat "Justin" Saengwon, was also granted bail on Tuesday. Student-led protests in Bangkok last year drew tens of thousands of people at their peak but have petered out as Thailand deals with a third wave of Covid infections and tighter restrictions on public gatherings. DECADE OF SYRIA WAR KILLED NEARLY 5,00,000 PEOPLE

A decade of war in Syria has left nearly half a million people dead, a war monitor said on Tuesday, in a new toll that includes 1,00,000 recently confirmed deaths

The Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said the conflict has claimed 4,94,438 lives since it erupted in 2011 with the brutal repression of anti-government protests

The previous tally, issued by the Observatory in March this year, stood at more than 3,88,000 dead. The war monitor has since confirmed an additional 1,05,015 deaths

1,59,774 civilians lost lives, with attacks by Syrian government forces and allied militia accounting for the majority of deaths

PRISON DEATHS

The Observatory also documented a total of at least 57,567 deaths in government prisons and detention centres since 2011, up from the 16,000 confirmed deaths it reported in March

It also reported 1,68,326 deaths among Syrian soldiers and allied militia

The conflict has killed 68,393 militants, mostly members of the Islamic State group or of organisations linked to Al-Qaeda, as well as 79,844 other rebels

DEAL EFFECT

A deal brokered by Turkey and Russia in March 2020 froze a government offensive on the rebel-controlled Idlib enclave which many feared would have caused human suffering on a scale yet unseen in the conflict

The attention on both sides has since turned to battling the Covid pandemic and 2020 saw the lowest number of conflict-related deaths since the start of the war with 10,000, according to the Observatory

Today the Damascus govt controls more than two thirds of the country after a string of Russia-backed victories since 2015

President Bashar al-Assad, in power since 2000, was re-elected in May for a fourth 7-year term

Vatican law criminalises abuse of adults by priests, laity

VATICAN CITY

POPE Francis has changed church law to explicitly criminalise the sexual abuse of adults by priests who abuse their authority and to say that laypeople who hold church office can be sanctioned for similar sex crimes.

The new provisions, released on Tuesday after 14 years of study, were contained in the revised criminal law section of the Vatican's Code of Canon Law, the in-house legal system that covers the 1.3 billion-strong Catholic Church.

The most significant changes are contained in two articles, 1395 and 1398, which aim to address major shortcomings in the church's handling of sexual abuse. The law recognises that adults, too, can be victimised by priests who abuse their authority, and said that laypeople in church offices can be punished for abusing minors as well as adults.

The Vatican also criminalised the 'grooming' of minors or vulnerable adults by priests to compel them to engage in pornography. It's the first time church law has officially recognised as criminal the method used by sexual predators to build relationships with their victims to then sexually exploit them.

The law also removes much of the discretion that had long allowed bishops and religious superiors to ignore or cover up abuse, making clear they can be held responsible for omissions and negligence in failing to properly investigate and sanction errant priests.

Ever since the 1983 code was issued, lawyers and bishops have complained it was completely inadequate to deal with the sexual abuse of minors, since it required time-consuming trials. Victims and their advocates, meanwhile, have argued it left too much discretion in the hands of bishops who had an interest in covering up for their priests. The Vatican issued piecemeal changes over the years to address the problems and loopholes, most significantly requiring all cases to be sent to the Holy See for review and allowing for a more streamlined administrative process to defrock a priest if the evidence against him was overwhelming.

Pope Francis arrives to lead a prayer service to invoke the end of the pandemic, in the Vatican gardens | AFP

More recently, Francis passed new laws to punish bishops and religious superiors who failed to protect their flocks. The new criminal code incorporates those changes and goes beyond them.

According the new law, priests who engage in sexual acts with anyone "not just a minor or someone who lacks the use of reason" can be defrocked if they used "force, threats or abuse of his authority" to engage in sexual acts.

The law doesn't explicitly define which adults are covered, saying only "one to whom the law recognises equal protection". The Vatican has long considered any sexual relations between a priest and an adult as sinful but consensual, believing that adults are able to offer or refuse consent purely by the nature of their age. But amid the #MeToo movement and scandals of seminarians and nuns being sexually abused by their superiors, the Vatican has come to realize that adults can be victimized too if they are in a relationship with a power imbalance. AP

Lanka ship fire doused after 13 days

COLOMBO

A FIRE aboard a cargo ship off Sri Lanka was finally extinguished on Tuesday after a 13-day international operation, the navy said. Tonnes of microplastic granules from its cargo have inundated Sri Lanka's beaches, forcing a fishing ban and sparking fears of ecological devastation. Experts from Dutch salvage company SMIT boarded the MV X-Press Pearl and reported massive flooding of the engine rooms. Navy spokesman Captain Indika de Silva said the stern of the container carrier had gone down by about a metre because of the flooding.

"It is not unusual for the vessel to trim by aft (tilt to the rear) when water sprayed on deck settles in the engine room," said Silva. He said the spraying of water was stopped to prevent further flooding, but some areas of the ship were still too hot to carry out a complete examination of the vessel, which caught fire on May 20.

Lanka's navy was joined by India's coastguard and tugs brought in by SMIT to battle the flames which destroyed much of the nearly 1,500 containers ship was carrying. The ship had 25 tonnes of nitric acid and other chemicals as well as 28 containers of plastic raw material, much of which fell into the sea. AFP

Ahead of polls, Russian authorities ramp up pressure on opposition

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN authorities have ramped up their pressure on dissent ahead of a parliamentary election, arresting one opposition activist and raiding several others' homes.

Andrei Pivovarov, the head of the Open Russia movement that dissolved itself last week, was pulled off a plane at St Petersburg's airport late on Monday and was to be taken to Krasnodar in southern Russia on Tuesday as part of a criminal probe against him. Also on Tuesday, police raided a country home of opposition politician Dmitry Gudkov, a former lawmaker who has aspired to run for parliament in September. At least two of his associates also had their homes searched.

The moves are part of a multi-pronged crackdown on the opposition that is widely seen as part of the authorities' efforts to prevent any opposition groups from mounting a challenge to the main Kremlin-backed United Russia party in September's parliamentary election. United Russia's popularity has waned amid the country's economic slowdown. Last week, Pivovarov announced that Open Russia was shutting down to protect its members from prosecution after the authorities had designated it as "undesirable".

The government already has outlawed more than 30 groups using a 2015 law that made membership in "undesirable" organisations a criminal offense. Another bill now making its way through parliament tightens punishment for their members.

Open Russia was financed by tycoon Mikhail Khodorkovsky, who moved to London after spending 10 years in prison in Russia on charges widely seen as political revenge for challenging President Vladimir Putin's rule. In March, police briefly detained about 200 participants of a forum of members of municipal councils that Open Russia helped organise.

Putin's most determined political foe, Alexei Navalny, was arrested in January upon his return from Germany, where he had spent five months recovering from a nerve agent poisoning that he blames on the Kremlin. AP

GERMANY & UN TO HOST MEET ON LIBYA IN BERLIN

BERLIN

GERMANY and the United Nations (UN) plan to host a conference on Libya in Berlin on June 23, a gathering that aims to bring together powers with interests in the North African country and its transitional government. The agenda will include discussions for preparations for elections in December and the withdrawal of foreign forces.

The meeting, announced on Tuesday, is expected to take place at the level of foreign ministers and follows up on a first Berlin conference held in January 2020 at which leaders agreed to respect an arms embargo and push Libya's warring parties to reach a full cease-fire. Germany has been trying to act as an intermediary.

The countries that have been involved in the process include the five permanent members of the UN Security Council, along with Italy, Turkey and the United Arab Emirates.

The Berlin conference will mark the first time that the Libyan transitional government is represented at such an event, the German foreign ministry said in a statement. "It will take stock of progress since the first Berlin gathering and discuss the next steps needed for a sustainable stabilisation," it added. "The main focus will be on preparations for the national elections scheduled for December 24 and on the withdrawal of foreign troops and mercenaries from Libya as agreed in the cease-fire," the ministry statement said. 'In addition, steps towards the creation of unified Libyan security forces will be discussed." AP

Auto sales fall sharply in May, no major recovery expected in June

Lockdowns imposed to contain Covid impacted production and demand across segments

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AUTO sales in May witnessed a steep fall due to factory closures and regional lockdowns enforced to contain the second wave of the pandemic.

The country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki India (MSIL) reported a 71 per cent sequential decline in total sales during the month at 46,555 units, compared to 1,59,691 units in April. It had shut production facilities from May 1-16 in order to divert oxygen from its plants for medical purposes. MSIL's domestic dispatches to dealers last month stood at 35,293 units, down 75 per cent month-on-month—the lowest in 11 months.

Going ahead, the industry is unlikely to see much relief in the near future as most factories, especially ones located in the South, are operating at limited capacities due to lockdowns and low demand.

Ashok Leyland, which reported a 62 per cent month-on-month drop in May 2021 sales, said that its plants are still not fully operational and that they expect to run their facilities only for 5-10 days in June. It added that "the demand scenario is still to pick up".

Japanese carmaker Toyota (TKM), whose sales fell 92 per cent m-o-m to 707 units, said it witnessed no production at its Bidadi plant.

MG Motor India's Director for Sales Rakesh Sidana said, "The continued lockdown in some states in June 2021 indicates that part shortage will continue to hamper overall production next month. Based on the booking trend we are hopeful of an uptrend in June". MG Motor reported sales of 1,016 units in May 2021 as against 2,565 units in April.

Tata Motors' total domestic sales fell 38 per cent m-o-m to 24,552 units, while Mahindra's domestic PV sales stood at 8,004 units, down 56 per cent. Hyundai Motor reported total sales of 30,703 units in May—a decline of 48 per cent month-on-month. Honda Cars domestic sales fell from 9,072 units in April 2021 to 2,032 units in May 2021. "Multiple state-wide lockdowns throughout the country to control the spike in Covid-19 infections in May 2021 impacted retail business," said Rajesh Goel, senior executive at Honda Cars India. Two-wheeler sales alse fell sharply due to similar reasons. Hero MotorCorp sold 1,59,561 units, while Honda 2Wheelers dispatched only 38,763 units in domestic market. In normal months, Hero sells over 6 lakh units in domestic market while Honda easily surpasses 4-5 lakh mark. TVS and Bajaj Auto also witnessed a domestic slump.

Lockdown in some states indicates that parts shortage will continue to hamper overall production next month. Based on bookings, we are hopeful of an uptrend —Rakesh Sidana, Director-Sales, MG Motor India

Delhi HC quashes Air India's decision to terminate pilots

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

Giving major relief to Air India pilots, who were sacked in August last year, the Delhi High Court on Tuesday ordered the national carrier to reinstate them to the positions.

Hearing over 40 petitions filed by the sacked pilots, Justice Jyoti Singh ordered Air India to reinstate the pilots and pay them back wages for the period under question. A total of 61 Air India pilots had been terminated from their services in August 2020.

The airline had cited the pandemic and the resulting financial crisis as demand crashed as the reason behind its decision to sack the pilots.

The pleas filed by the fired pilots before the courts, however, had sought the quashing of the April 2 2020 order suspending their services, and the subsequent order of August 7, by which they were all terminated.

In its order on Tuesday, the court said that the extension of the contract, in the future, of the contractual pilots would be at the discretion of Air India in view of their satisfactory performance.

Many of the pilots had also resigned due to non-payment or delayed payment of their salaries. They had later withdrawn their resignations before the six-month notice period was over. These pilots have sought directions from the court to Air India to not to accept their earlier resignations.

In response, Air India had said that the delay in payment of salaries and allowances was in no manner done with a malafide intention but invariably delayed due to the national airline's precarious financial condition during the year.

The national carrier also told the court that, "The general principle allows an employee to withdraw his resignation before its acceptance, but the fact of the present matter falls under an exceptional circumstance and the acceptance of the withdrawal would be gravely against the public interest."

ITC posts Q4 net profit of ₹3,817 crore

New Delhi: ITC Ltd on Tuesday reported a consolidated net profit of ₹3,816.84 crore for the fourth quarter ended March 2021. The cigarette-FMCG-to-hotel major had posted a net profit of ₹3,926.46 crore during the January-March quarter of the previous fiscal. Its revenue from operations was at ₹15,404.37 crore.

States borrowing cost soars 30 bps this fiscal

New Delhi: Even though the cost of funds for the Centre has been trending down following the deft yield management by the Reserve Bank, for states crippled by the continuing lockdowns, it has been heading north. So far in FY21, states' average interest rate on their market borrowings has jumped by 30 basis points.

THAILAND

COUNTRY PLANS A FRESH $15 BN STIMULUS

Thailand's government expects $15.2 billion to be injected into the economy in the second half after it approved a planned stimulus to mitigate the impact of a third wave of Covid-19 infections, according to Reuters. The Southeast Asian country's latest outbreak has accounted for more than 80% of its total infections, over 90% of deaths, and slowed domestic economic activity. The stimulus worth $4.5 billion includes cash handouts for low-income people, cash transfers under a co-payment scheme, and e-vouchers for spenders. It's part of a larger economic package approved by the cabinet last month. The measures will cover 51 million and help sustain purchasing power, support the economy in the second half of 2021, and will be implemented from July to December. Last month, the state planning agency cut its 2021 economic growth outlook to 1.5-2.5% from 2.5-3.5% due to the virus outbreak.

SOUTH KOREA

EXPORTS AT 32-YEAR HIGH

South Korea's exports logged their sharpest expansion in 32 years in May, marking another robust month of shipments fuelled by stronger consumer demand globally as many economies start to reopen. Surging chip and car shimpments helped power a 45.6% surge in exports from a year earlier, government data showed on Tuesday, posting the fastest growth since August 1988 and extending their expansion to seven months in a row. Asia's fourth-largest economy is the first major exporting economy to report monthly trade data that includes key IT products and the strength of its exports could further build confidence in a global economic recovery. While the pace of shipments growth is set to slow as base from the coronavirus fades, the outlook for exports remains bullish. Separate data on the nation's factory activity showed extended growth into an eighth straight month in May with the IHS Markit purchasing manager's index at 53.7 in May as against 54.6% in April.

CHINA

COUNTRY MOVES TO CURB YUAN APPRECIATION

China's central bank, the PBOC, struck a blow against the yuan's run to three-year highs by hiking banks' reserve ratios for the first time since 2007. The move, seen withdrawing just $20 billion worth of liquidity from the system, didn't have much impact but might keep traders wary of pushing the currency higher for now. The central bank on Monday raised the amount of money that financial institutions must set aside as reserves for their foreign exchange deposits to curb the yuan's rapid appreciation. The increase in the reserve requirement to 7% from 5% was to strengthen foreign exchange liquidity management. The move comes after the yuan hit a fresh 3-year high against the US dollar and 5-year high against a trade-weighted basket of currencies and also follows recent warnings by Chinese regulators about the risks posed by hot money flows. A rise in the yuan-US dollar exchange rate means the yuan has weakened, since it takes more yuan to buy one US dollar. By asking market participants to set aside a large amount of foreign exchange holdings as reserves, the PBOC is reducing the market's dollar liuqidity and, in turn, limiting the decline on the dollar and the rise in the yuan.

No major excise duty cut likely on petrol, diesel

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

DON'T expect any respite in the form of excise duty cuts on petrol and diesel anytime soon as the government continues to struggle with its finances. If the 2020-21 tax collection figures are anything to go by, this year (2021-22) will continue to see the government depending on high excise and customs duty collections to tide over a tight fiscal situation.

In 2020-21, even though income tax and corporate tax collections remained muted, high indirect taxes and muted capital expenditure helped the government contain the fiscal deficit to lower than 9.5 per cent. Officials say the trend will continue this year too, with no major relief in tariffs or any major increase in capital expenditure. "We do not expect cuts in customs and excise duty, at least for the first half of this fiscal year. So, there is less headroom for reduction on taxes on petroleum products. Also, I do not see any major slashing or reduction in GST slabs, at least this year," a senior finance ministry official said.

The Gross Tax Revenue (GTR) collection of the Union government was ₹20.24 lakh crore in 2020-21, slightly higher than ₹20.1 lakh crore collected in 2019-20, despite the lockdown.

A close analysis shows that while corporate tax collections saw a steep decline during the year, followed by income tax, it was cutting down on subsidies, better GST collections in the second half, and heavy taxation on petroleum products which kept the numbers up.

The government mopped up ₹3.9 lakh crore in excise duties in 2020-21, a 62.5 per cent jump over the ₹2.4 lakh crore collected in the previous year. Similarly, customs duty collections soared 23 per cent to ₹1.35 lakh crore in 2020-21.

The government's fiscal deficit, meanwhile, settled at ₹18.2 lakh crore, or 98.5 per cent of its revised estimate of ₹18.49 lakh crore. The country's revenue deficit settled at ₹14.54 lakh crore, or 99.8 per cent of the government's revised estimate.

This was mainly due to the 5.9 per cent higher net tax revenue collection and 23.9 per cent higher collections under the non-debt capital receipts head. Revenue expenditure for the year stood 2.5 per cent higher than the revised estimates. However, capital expenditure was 3.1 per cent lower than revised estimates.

For the current fiscal year 2021-22, the target is to contain fiscal deficit at 6.8 per cent. While the high dividend received from the RBI will help offset some of the shortfall in divestment proceeds, officers claim that there is less room for any indirect tax relief. "The second wave makes it difficult for any relief on indirect taxation. Only better revenue collection and some boost in corporate tax can improve the numbers," an official said.

TATA POWER

Tata Power's fourth quarter FY21 result reflects strong numbers, led by higher execution for its solar EPC business and interest cost reduction. Divestment-related measures and infusion from the promoter has aided debt reduction. The EPC businesses have picked up pace, led by the healthy order book at Tata Power Solar.

Truck rentals down 27% in Apr-May after lockdowns, cyclones hit demand

JONATHAN ANANDA @ Chennai

India's road freight transport fleet has been hit hard by the second wave of the pandemic, with fleet utilisations down to around 35-40 per cent as lockdowns strangled overall demand. The result has been a cumulative 23-27 per cent decline in truck rentals during April and May 2021, according to the Indian Foundation of Transport Research & Training (IFTRT).

According to S P Singh, senior fellow, IFTRT, while a buoyant harvesting season has helped the road freight transport segment, the recent cyclones on the West and East coasts combined with fresh lockdowns to contain the virus has resulted in "cumulative truck rentals slumping 23-27 per cent in April-May 2021, with fleet utilisation having nose dived to 35-40 per cent.

With fuel prices continuing to increase sharply, truck operators have been hit by a double whammy. "Poor truckers are not able to pay their EMIs. On May 29, 2020, diesel price was ₹66.19, while on May 29, 2021, diesel price is ₹92.23.... Difference of ₹26.04. In this last one year, the operating cost has increased by about 30 per cent," said Kultaran Singh Atwal, president, All India Motor Transport Congress (AIMTC). The industry body has requested the government to reduce excise duties and state VAT on fuel, a monthly or quarterly fuel pricing system instead of the current daily price revision regime, and a crackdown on corruption among transport officials.

'50 mn MSMEs in India have no access to formal credit'

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

DESPITE the government announcing several measures to enhance credit availability to stressed MSMEs, nearly 50.7 million enterprises (80 per cent of the 63.4 million MSME's in India) lack access to traditional lending channels, a report from the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants said.

ACCA noted that the credit gap of $380 billion (as per the WHO estimates) for Indian MSMEs has significantly increased in the last five years. Credit from Non-Banking Financial Corporations (NBFC), which significantly contributed to the growth of the sector, had dropped by 30 per cent as on March 2019.

The Covid-led decline in the revenues across sectors now poses an existential crisis for many businesses, impacting their viability for next 6-12 months with the shortage of capital flow as the main challenge, ACCA's Global COVID Survey 2020 pointed out.

A decline in economic activities during lockdowns has threatened business continuity for many small businesses, making MSMEs one of the worst-hit sectors. While the existing challenges have significantly worsened, new problems noted. It added that non-essential businesses have taken a worse hit during the lockdown, with many opting for loan moratoriums announced last year.

Due to the lack of access to low-cost formal credit from traditional sources, MSMEs operate out of what is referred to as India's shadow economy, where they are funded by informal sources such as friends and family, or moneylenders who often charge high rates of interest or fail to maintain proper records. The absence of credit history, especially for New to Credit (NTC borrowers, makes it even more difficult for small businesses to receive funding, thereby widening the sector's credit gap. the research report pointed out.

Travel, tourism cos take massive losses in FY21

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

RECENTLY disclosed earnings data for India's travel and hospitality service providers highlights the damage that the pandemic is wrecking on the vast sector.

Thomas Cook India's (TCIL) consolidated FY21 loss, for instance, ballooned to ₹416 crore from ₹69 crore in FY20. "The performance was impacted due to the pandemic," said the company, whose operations range from providing leisure and corporate travel packages to running properties such as Sterling Holiday Resorts.

TCIL, however, added that it continues to maintain short-term liquidity and balance sheet strength "given the uncertain environment" with a continued focus on cash conservation. The company boosted its cash reserves by securing fresh funding of ₹435.7 crore from its parent Fairbridge Capital (Mauritius) Limited during the year.

Gurugram-based online ticketing giant MakeMyTrip's (MMT) revenue fell by a whopping 68 per cent year-on-year in FY21 to $163 million and it reported a $56 million loss during the financial year.

MakeMyTrip is India's largest online travel agency and has an over 50 per cent market share in all the verticals. The company pointed out that the pandemic has severely impacted travel demand by affecting consumers' sentiment and their willingness to travel. This caused airlines and hotels in India and around the world to operate at significantly reduced service levels throughout much of calendar year 2020, it added.

The Federation of Hotel & Restaurant Associations of India (FHRAI) estimates that the Indian hotel industry has taken a hit of over ₹1.30 lakh crore in revenue for the fiscal year 2020-21. Likewise, Hotel Association of India (HAI) said more than 40 per cent of hotels have shut or are on the brink of closure, while 70 per cent of overall jobs are now in danger directly or indirectly.

"We currently expect the impact of the second wave on our financial results to be greater in the first quarter of FY22... travel demand has been significantly impacted during April and May 2021," said MMT. The sector is now pinning its hopes on a relief package from the government.

Rising e-commerce shipments to boost last mile delivery biz to $6 bn by 2024

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

THE last mile delivery sector in India is on a steady upward trajectory and is estimated to a market size of $6 billion by 2024, a report by research firm Redseer said. Even though the country has been in the grip of lockdowns over the past year where only the delivery of essentials have been permitted, e-commerce shipments have grown from 814 million in 2018 to 1.36 billion in 2020.

This number is expected to jump almost six-fold, signaling a shift in shopping behaviour. Intra-city logistics constitutes 18 per cent of the overall $320 billion industry. Logistics have remained a backbone for many industries and have enhanced technology-based offerings to suit various sectors and their needs, said Kanishka Mohan, Director at Redseer.

E-commerce and FMCG constitute nearly 70 per cent of the last mile delivery market, which includes the movement of goods within 200 kilometres with a round trip of less than 24 hours, and a load of less than 5 tonnes. In the intra-city segment, the market is dominated by players like such as Porter, LetsTransport, Blowhorn, and Lynk.

E-commerce biggies like Amazon, Flipkart, Reliance have tied with third-party players, SMEs, and neighbourhood stores, as well as hired thousands of delivery executives over the past year to efficiently executive last-mile deliveries. The companies have also strategised ways to boost their delivery capabilities through contactless offerings.

Mohan added that the last mile delivery sector in 2019 was a $800-900 million industry with a 3-4% penetration, but the industry is moving in a similar direction to markets like China and the US.

Williamson's NZ ready for fierce England challenge

New Zealand captain Kane Williamson insisted the "fierce challenge" posed by England will be uppermost in his mind rather than his team's record at Lord's when he leads the Black Caps in the first Test at the 'home of cricket' starting on Wednesday. New Zealand's Test record at Lord's is poor with just one win – back in 1999 – from 17 attempts.

Fouaad, horses and isolation

The chosen equine will be sent to Belgium to undergo mandatory quarantine before being transported to Tokyo

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

BOTH Fouaad Mirza and the horse he will take with him to the Olympics will be fully vaccinated by the time the pair leaves for Tokyo in the fourth week of July. Mirza had his first jab of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine two weeks ago, while both the horses in contention — Seigneur Medicott and Dajara 4 — have already been vaccinated against the Equine Herpes Virus, a disease that ran amok in Europe in February and March.

"It wasn't mandatory or anything for the horses to be vaccinated but I just wanted to be safe," Mirza tells this newspaper. Irrespective of their vaccine status, the horse he picks will have to undergo quarantine before they are transported to Tokyo on the 20th or 21st of July. One of Dajara 4 or Medicott (according to Mirza's preference) will be sent to Liege in Belgium where they will be in quarantine before a 'direct flight will take them to Tokyo', according to Mirza.

Who amongst Dajara or Medicott will go on that trip? Mirza is yet to make up his mind (he has time till the end of June to convey his decision) but his already working overtime. "I have to think of a couple of factors before deciding," he says. "The horse best equipped to deal with the climate in Tokyo is an important factor. Medicott has shown that he is capable of handling that humidity when he performed well in Jakarta (astride Medicott, Mirza won two Asiad medals in 2018) and I think it won't be dissimilar to the conditions in Tokyo." However, he didn't rule out Dajara completely. "Saying that, Dajara is younger so she could get through it easily.

"Ultimately it will come down to training and which horse gives me the best feeling."

However, for the next three weeks or so, he will be taking it lightly as far as the horses are concerned. He says it will be a well deserved break after 'a taxing schedule'. "Right now, they are outside just eating the grass. Going forward, it is going to be a relaxing routine for the next 2-3 weeks. It's a well deserved rest for both of them. Now is the time for them to rest and recuperate."

After that period, Mirza will take part in a couple of small meets before one international event in the beginning of July. "Planned a few small shows here and there, international shows probably one in July. But going to be a very quiet next 2-3 weeks. These four star long format events we cover nearly 6kms, it's a lot to ask for a horse. The fitness they need to do these events is high and the preparation they need is difficult and strenuous. They won't lose fitness over the next three weeks, won't hinder my preparation for Tokyo."

ICC expands World Cup to 14 teams, T20WC to 20

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

After shrinking the number of participating teams in global events in the current cycle, International Cricket Council (ICC) — with Olympic participation getting closer — has decided include more countries. The 50-over men's World Cup will now feature 14 teams in 2027 and 2031, while T20 men's World Cup will see 20 teams in 2024, 2026, 2028, and 2030. Also back in the Future Tours Programme is an eight-team Champions Trophy to be played in 2025 and 2029.

The ICC board, which met virtually on Tuesday, agreed unanimously to the changes that see at least one ICC event every year from 2024 to 2031 if one takes into account the World Test Championship (WTC) final. Apart from expanding the teams, the other big decision that came out of the meeting was with regards to the WTC, which will continue in the next FTP.

However, there remains question mark over WTC for 2021-2023 cycle. The current one ends with the final between India and New Zealand to be played in Southampton from June 18-22. As reported by this newspaper, members are still divided about continuing the event as boards are grappling with financial losses because of pandemic. As a result, several boards are keen on having bilateral limited-overs series. Unless a majority agrees to continue with WTC, there is a strong possibility it might be suspended for two years.

As reported, members agreed unanimously about the need to expand 50-over World Cup to 14 teams with reintroduction of the Super Six stage that existed in 1999 and 2003. The T20 World Cup will see four groups of five, with the top two playing a Super Eight before semifinals and the final.

BCCI GETS TIME TILL JUNE 28

With regards to the venue for the T20 World Cup scheduled for October-November this year, the ICC has given the BCCI time till June 28 to decide the venue. In case, the BCCI is not able to host the event in India, the UAE will host it.

Tests will give girls exposure: Mithali

VIVEK KRISHNAN @Chennai

ON Tuesday, India women's Test and ODI captain Mithali Raj and coach Ramesh Powar sat side by side to face the media, ahead of their departure to England, for the first time since 2018. Powar's acrimonious exit in November 2018 after a fallout with Mithali is well-documented, but the former off-spinner is now in charge once again. Their bitter past was understandably brought up on Tuesday, but both were unequivocal in stating they have been professional enough to move on.

"We need to stop speculations about differences between Mithali and me. We have interacted well with each other. Otherwise, I wouldn't have come in as women's coach," Powar responded.

Of course, there are stern challenges in store for the Indian women's team and it would need both Mithali and Powar to work in unison. The women will play a Test against England in Bristol this month after a seven-year gap, followed by an unprecedented day-night Test against Australia in Perth from September 30 to October 3. With just 8 of the 18 members travelling to the UK having prior Test experience, negligible at that, they are being thrown in the deep end. But Mithali wants the girls to embrace the challenge.

"It is good to have Tests, whether home or away. It will be great if there is continuity as it helps the players. But sometimes, it is nice to go in without baggage and just enjoy the atmosphere. Having Tests on tours of England and Australia in quick succession can give a lot of exposure to the current lot. If that can be carried forward in the coming years, it will be great for the sport," Mithali explained.

Powar agreed but also warned against too many expectations too soon from the side in Test cricket. "Let's take it step by step. Let's not push girls into a zone where you are demanding too many things in Test cricket," he said.

Para shooters get visas for Peru qualifier

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

THE second wave of Covid-19 has forced different countries to adopt strict restrictions on Indian travellers. Even Tokyo-bound athletes have been affected when it comes to going abroad for training or competitions. The situation is no different for para athletes. The para table tennis team could not get visas to participate in the World Qualification Tournament in Lasko, Slovenia, but the situation is much better for India's 16-member World Cup para shooting contingent. It includes 10 shooters and rest are coaching staff.

The para shooters, who will participate in Lima (Peru), starting June 10, have already got their visas. Others are expected to get it by Wednesday. The Indian team also does not have to undergo quarantine in the host nation, which is a huge relief. The competition also acts as the Tokyo Paralympics qualifying tournament. The date of travel is expected to be finalised in the coming days.

"We have got visas for the shooters. Within a day or two, we should get the Peru visa for the rest. We have permission from the Peru government for our para athletes to participate without quarantine," said Paralympic Committee of India (PCI) secretary-general Gursharan Singh.

SERENA, NAVRATILOVA SUPPORT OSAKA

Paris: SERENA Williams and Martina Navratilova came out in support of Naomi Osaka after her decision to withdraw from the French Open citing anxiety. "I feel for Naomi. I wish I could give her a hug because I know what it's like," said the 39-year-old, after her first-round 7-6 (8/6), 6-2 win over Irina-Camelia Begu in the first ever night match at Roland Garros. "I am so sad about Osaka. I truly hope she will be ok. As athletes we are taught to take care of our body, and perhaps the mental and emotional aspect gets short shrift. This is about more than doing or not doing a press conference. Good luck Naomi, we are all pulling for you," Navratilova said.

Nadal has it easy in first round

Paris: Rafael Nadal fought back from 2-5 down in the third set to ensure he started his bid for a 14th French Open title with a comfortable victory over Alexei Popyrin on Tuesday. Nadal raced through the first two sets before clinching a 6-2, 6-3, 7-6 (7/3) victory.

Barty admits she's not 100% after first-round scare

Paris: World No. 1 Ashleigh Barty admitted that she's "not 100%" as she marked her return to the French Open for the first time since her 2019 title triumph by overcoming a scare to beat Bernarda Pera to make the second round on Tuesday. The top seed won 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 but she needed a medical timeout after losing the second set and revealed she was suffering from a hip problem.

Number of aces served by the big-serving Alexei Popyrin in the clash against Rafael Nadal. Nadal's service game was also up to the mark as he served seven aces.

05

Both Nadal and Popyrin made five double faults each.

I am pretty happy with the way I played. It wasn't an easy match. He (Popyrin) is a dangerous player... I was fortunate to break his serve and win first two sets. The third set was extremely difficult, but I managed to find a way.

WHO's emergency green light for 2nd China virus vaccine

Sinovac already in use in 22 nations at least, WHO's nod opens door for entry into Covax

MEDICINE

GENEVA: The World Health Organization has issued an emergency use listing for the COVID-19 vaccine made by Sinovac for adults 18 and over, the second such authorization it has granted to a Chinese company.

In a statement on Tuesday, the UN health agency said data submitted to its experts showed that two doses of the vaccine prevented people from getting symptoms of COVID-19 in about half of those who got the vaccine. WHO said there were few older adults enrolled in the research, so it could not estimate how effective the vaccine was in people over 60.

"Nevertheless, WHO is not recommending an upper age limit for the vaccine," the agency said, adding that data collected from Sinovac's use in other countries "suggest the vaccine is likely to have a protective effect in older persons."

In April, a study published by a team of scientists in Brazil confirmed a previously reported efficacy rate of over 50% for Sinovac. A real-world study in Chile in April found an efficacy rate of 67%.

Last month, WHO gave the green light to the COVID-19 vaccine made by Sinopharm. It has also licensed vaccines developed by Pfizer-BioNTech, AstraZeneca, Moderna and Johnson & Johnson.

WHO's authorization means the vaccine can be bought by donors and other U.N. agencies for use in poorer countries, including in the U.N.-backed initiative to distribute COVID-19 vaccines globally known as COVAX. The effort has been slowed considerably after its biggest supplier in India said it would not be able to provide any more vaccines until the end of the year due to the latest surge of new infections now ravaging India.

To date, there is no confirmed deal for Sinovac doses with COVAX.

In May, Europe's drug regulator began an expedited review process for the Sinovac vaccine, but it's unclear when a decision might be made about its possible authorization for the 27-nation bloc.

Hundreds of millions of Chinese vaccines have already been delivered to dozens of countries around the world through bilateral deals, as many nations scrambled to secure supplies after rich countries reserved the vast majority of supplies from Western pharmaceutical makers.

While China has five vaccine shots in use, the majority of its exports abroad come from two companies: Sinopharm and Sinovac. The Chinese vaccines are "inactivated" vaccines, made with killed coronavirus.

Most other Covid-19 vaccines being used around the world, particularly in the West, are made with newer tech that instead target the "spike" protein that coats the virus surface.

Ancient Teotihuacan sites threatened by plans to build amusement park

It was once the largest city of the Americas, its name roughly translating to "the place where men become gods". Now in the ruins of Teotihuacan's oldest districts, landowners are destroying sites in order to build a recreation park, in defiance of stop-work orders and criminal complaints. An indignant Mexican government has sent 250 National Guard troops to stop the bulldozers

100 BC
Refugees from Cuicuilco, a city decimated by volcanic activity, arrived, and a large urban expansion is thought to have begun in Teotihuacan

100 AD
The girst ceremonial buildings were built, beginning with the Pyramid of the Moon. The city was a model for urbanisation

100-650 AD
Teotihuacan flourished in trade and reached the peak of its influence. During this Classic Period of Mesoamerica, this was the region's most powerful and important city. It was also one of the largest cities of the world at the time

650 AD
Central Teotihuacan burned, possibly due to a civil war. It was subsequently abandoned in the 7th century.
Aztecs, the second most prominent empire in Mexico after the Teotihuacanos, saw it as a place of pilgrimmage centuries after its destruction

WHAT'S HAPPENING NOW?

Bulldozers threaten to raze as many as 15 acres at the site, as per the UN international council on monuments and sites. The council also said looting of artifacts had been detected, the Associated Press reported, adding that owners of plots on the site are trying to turn the land into some sort of amusement park

HOW THE CITY WAS AT ITS APOGEE (100-650 AD)

Priest-rulers held the reins of power in Teotihuacan, a highly scared place during its peak and even after its destruction. They also held grand processions that are thought to have honoured water, fertility and time. Their ceremonies also involved human sacrifices. The city was carefully built in a mid-valley location, showing the importance that the inhabitants gave to managing the broad flow of rain runoff in a region of low rainfall. Most of the urban city's population was engaged in agriculture, historians say

Much of the city's life and the character of the civilisation remain a mystery. Even its true name remains unclear, as its current one was given to it by the Aztecs. But the Aztecs may have in fact called the city "Teohuacan" — literally "the city of the sun" — rather than Teotihuacan, which means "city of the gods" or "place where men become gods"

Amazon rivers swell to record levels

ENVIRONMENT

MANAUS: Rivers around the biggest city in Brazil's Amazon rainforest have swelled to levels unseen in over a century of record-keeping, according to data published Tuesday by Manaus' port authorities, straining a society that has grown weary of increasingly frequent flooding.

The Rio Negro was at its highest level since records began in 1902, with a depth of 29.98 meters (98 feet) at the port's measuring station. The nearby Solimoes and Amazon rivers were also nearing all-time highs, flooding streets and houses in dozens of municipalities and affecting some 450,000 people in the region.

Higher-than-usual precipitation is associated with the La Nina phenomenon, when currents in the central and eastern Pacific Ocean affect global climate patterns. Environmental experts and organizations say there is strong evidence that human activity and global warming are altering the frequency and intensity of extreme weather events, including La Nina. Seven of the 10 biggest floods in the Amazon basin have occurred in the past 13 years, Brazil data shows.

Heads of World Bank, IMF & WTO issue call for vaccine equality

MEDICINE

WASHINGTON: World leaders must make a "new commitment" to a more equal distribution of coronavirus vaccines to bring the pandemic under control, the heads of four major global organizations said on Tuesday.

Their joint rallying cry comes as concerns rise that vaccine inequality between wealthy and poor nations is further complicating and prolonging a pandemic that has killed more than 3.5 million people globally.

Writing in the Washington Post on Tuesday, the heads of the World Health Organization, World Bank, International Monetary Fund and World Trade Organization blamed the gap in vaccination programs for the emergence of virus variants that have fueled fresh outbreaks in the developing world. "It has become abundantly clear that there will be no broad-based recovery from the Covid-19 pandemic without an end to the health crisis. Access to vaccination is key to both," they said. "Ending the pandemic is possible – and requires global action now."

The joint op-ed was penned by IMF managing director Kristalina Georgieva, WHO director general Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, World Bank president David Malpas, and WTO director general Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala.

They called on the Group of Seven wealthy democracies to agree on a "stepped-up coordinated strategy, backed by new financing, to vaccinate the world" at their next meeting in the United Kingdom later this month.

The officials recommended the G7 agrees to fund a $50 billion plan already put forward by the IMF to accelerate the end of the pandemic.

The WHO had already decried vaccine inequality as "grotesque" in March and its chief Tedros last month asked vaccine-wealthy nations to refrain from giving shots to children and instead donate those doses to other nations.

Human case of H10N3 bird flu

PATHOLOGY

A man in eastern China has contracted what might be the world's first human case of the H10N3 strain of bird flu, but the risk of large-scale spread is low, the government said on Tuesday. The 41-year-old man in Jiangsu province, northwest of Shanghai, was hospitalised April 28 and is in stable condition, the National Health Commission said. No human case of H10N3 has been reported elsewhere, the commission said. "This infection is an accidental cross-species transmission... The risk of large-scale transmission is low." B.1.617.2 is 'Delta' variant

HEALTH

Covid-19 variants are to be known by letters of the Greek alphabet to avoid stigmatising nations where they were first detected, the WHO said on Monday. The new system applies to variants of concern and the second-level variants of interest being tracked. Under the new system, the variants of concern take on the following names: the hitherto so-called British variant B.1.1.7 becomes Alpha; the B.1.351 first discovered in South Africa becomes Beta, while the Brazilian P1 becomes Gamma. The so-called Indian variant B.1.617 is split into sub-lineages, of which the B.1.617.2 variant of concern becomes Delta. The B.1.617.1 variant of interest is called Kappa.

Virus surges pummel SE Asia

HEALTH

Malaysia imposed a tough nationwide lockdown on Tuesday to battle a worsening coronavirus outbreak, as countries across Southeast Asia struggled with a resurgence in cases driven by infectious variants. Much of the region escaped the pandemic's first wave last year relatively unscathed by rapidly closing borders and introducing curbs. But countries from Thailand to Vietnam are being hammered by fresh surges, with efforts to quell outbreaks hampered by slow vaccine rollouts and populations weary of restrictions. Malaysia is among the worst hit. Of almost 2,800 deaths from Covid-19 recorded in the country of 32 million since the start of the pandemic, over 40% were in May. As well as variants, the outbreak has been fanned by gatherings in the Muslim-majority country during Ramadan and Eid al-Fitr. Vietnam was praised for keeping infections low last year, but its cases have more than doubled in the past month.

Scripture and football at Tibetan college on roof of the world

EDUCATION

LHASA: Maroon-robed Tibetan nuns vigorously debate Buddhist precepts, while monks dash across an astro turf pitch on the roof of the world to kick a football.

The Tibetan Buddhist College, one of the highest places of learning on Earth, has over 900 students who study Mandarin, English and political studies.

It all takes place under the benign gaze of China's President Xi Jinping, whose portrait festoons the college, which is tucked into a hillside over 11,800 feet above sea level.

Beijing says it "peacefully liberated" the mountainous region of Tibet in 1951 and insists it has since brought infrastructure and education to a previously underdeveloped region.

Chinese flags and the aphorisms of Xi pepper the college grounds.

But there are no signs of Tibetan spiritual leader the Dalai Lama who fled the region in 1959 and set up a government-in-exile in India.

AFP joined a government-steered media tour this week to the politically sensitive region. Since 2008, it has been nearly impossible for journalists to visit except on organised trips.

College of Science graduates from Tibet University celebrate their graduation at the Potala Palace Square in Lhasa | AFP

Sporadic protests have broken out in Tibet in recent decades, including some self-immolations by monks in the heart of Lhasa and large protests against Chinese rule in 2008, which left many dead.

Rights groups say that now expressing any anti-government views is extremely dangerous, while simmering unrest is quickly stamped out.

During the media tour, the college students were glowing in their praise of their education.

Monks, nuns and novices rehearsed religious texts, showed off their English and demonstrated traditional Buddhist debates, with the speaker delivering emphatic rhetorical flourishes in a pebbled courtyard.

"I've been here for more than two years, said 32-year-old monk Xirekewang.

"We study from 6 am to around 9 pm in the evening. I like studying here and don't feel tired... the life is very good."

But China has been accused of deliberately diluting Tibetan culture, including by directing its education system.

DAY'S DIARY

Queen's coronation

The coronation of Elizabeth II took place on this day in 1953 at Westminster Abbey, London. Elizabeth II acceded to the throne at the age of 25

THE MAKERS

It took 10 weeks to handweave 20 yards of purple velvet for the Queen's coronation robe. Her velvet robes, robes for the Peers were made by Warner & Sons of Braintree, Essex

THE DRESS

The Queen's coronation dress was made by Norman Hartnell. The white satin was embroidered with emblems of the UK and the Commonwealth. Thousands of tiny seed pearls set in 'saucers' of silver covered the dress

THE AUDIENCE

It was the first ever coronation to be televised by BBC. Around 27 million people in the UK watched the ceremony on television and 11 million listened on the radio

CLUB TRIVIA

Many clubs have rules on keeping discussions productive, and prejudice-free

Clubhouse warns against recording conversations which is against its policy, but users have found workarounds

Pawan Kumar, KM Chaitanya, Manvitha, Nidhi Subbiah are on the app

The app is evolving its own lingo: PTR (press to release) will get you updates on new users while RR (reset the room) calls for a user to stick to the topic

HOW IT WORKS

Anyone can download the app, but you can join discussions only when you get an invite from an existing user.

When you get access, you get a page where topics are listed. Find your interests, and get started.

You can listen to what others are saying, and if you want to speak up 'raise your hand' on the app, and go ahead

The latest buzz in virtual Bengaluru is Clubhouse: An app where you can listen to and participate in interesting conversations between people anywhere in the world

In da Club

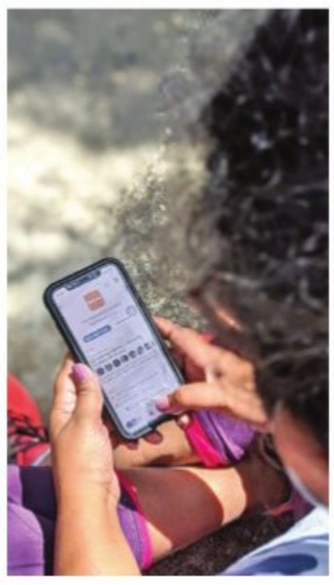
SANATH PRASAD

BENGALUREANS all over the world are beginning to explore the potential of Clubhouse, an app that's something of a radio that anyone (with an invite) can tune into, and even talk on.

Barely a month after the app launched its Android version, Namma Ooru's people have begun carving out their little niches with clubs such as Namma Bengaluru Club, The Bangalore Club, Faces of Bengaluru, Indiranagar Ka Goondas, The Bangalore foodies, and Bangalore Malayalees. It has some Sandalwood presence too, with film directors, music artistes and others hosting rooms for discussions on cinema and even entertainment.

While the app is still invite-only (at the time of writing), many users connected to the city say the app's audio format encourages participation in multiple languages, and is therefore more open to residents of smaller towns and cities.

City-based public relations consultant Saina Jayapal signed up on Clubhouse in February and has been reading news headlines from Karnataka on Malayalees Club every morning. "We get nearly 600 participants including listeners tuning in from other countries," she says.



She also participates in a bunch of conversations on literature, poetry, ghost story nights, and other topics and says people engage actively. "The app is a podcast and radio put together, which will go a long way," says Jayapal.

Eight months ago, San Francisco-based venture capitalist Akash Bhat started Namma Bengaluru Club (NBC) - which now has over 5,000 followers - to bridge the physical distance with Bengaluru through a virtual medium.

"We started this to discuss all things Bengaluru. It creates a mood of nostalgia for me as I'm far away in the US. When I hosted a room in October 2020, we just had six participants. Now, with Android users coming in, we are witnessing around 80-90 participants per session," says Bhat.

He says the number of users from Bengaluru is rising and the city's multicultural population makes for diverse discussions on everything from food joints to startups. Bhat himself hosts rooms with entrepreneurs and startups as part of the India Startup Club on the app.

Harsha MV, co-manager of NBC, is planning a series on the origins of Bengaluru and Mysuru cities. "We are planning to host an audio series in the next 10 days on the history and formation of Bengaluru and Mysuru. The club is also hosting a tutorial on Kannada classes and we have finished two sessions already," says Harsha.

Says fashion blogger Komal Basith, "There are a lot of healthy discussions that take place over the night, especially on mental health and fashion. I think the lockdown has amplified the participation of users who are even active beyond midnight."

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE on Thursday.

1. Of the many places in Bengaluru connected with India's freedom struggle, Mysore Bank Circle was the hub of many revolts and protests. A 10-feet-tall stone plaque was erected in 1972 in memory of six people (four of them were students of Central College) who died in police firing in 1942. Historically, the location is where one of the important gates of old Bengaluru Fort built by Kempegowda once stood. Name the fort gate.

2. Name the freedom fighter activist who organised many protests in the city, and was jailed during the Quit India movement. He passed away at the age of 103 on May 26, 2021.

3. Name the celebrated Indian Forest Service officer who is credited with greening the city by planting 1.5 million trees in the 1980s. He has authored several books on tree diversity, including 'Your Bangalore, The Trees', an account of urban trees and flowering plants in the city. He passed away on May 2, 2021 at the age of 93.

Flexing it

Sandalwood actor Prajwal Devaraj has been sweating it out at his home gym. He's been trying out new workouts along with his wife, Ragini. "The process of learning continues!," the 33-year-old actor posted on social media with a reel of his routine. Now, that's some motivation.

Chef Kavan Kuttapa is dishing out new ramen recipes each week, giving customers a taste of the dish that stole his heart

Bowled over

SIMRAN AHUJA

KAVAN Kuttapa's latest venture couldn't have come at a better time. With summer about to give way to the monsoon, Kuttapa's Naru Noodle Bar will supply city residents with everything they need to enjoy a warm bowl of ramen amid the gloominess (both of the weather and the current state of affairs).

Kuttapa, who until April was the culinary head of Permit Room and Toit, didn't wait long to dive right into his next stint - craft noodles and ramen. "I have been a part of different kitchens in the food and beverage industry for 10 years and have loved every bit of it. But I also felt it was time to launch a space of my own," he says.

After making an official announcement on Instagram last month, Kuttapa sent out his first batch of kits two Sundays ago, and for now, aims to keep the weekly format going. "The kits contain all the five components you need to make a bowl of ramen - noodles made from scratch, broth, toppings, tare or the seasoning element and aroma oils," says the 34-year-old, who is pricing the bowls at around ₹750 per portion.

Each week's menu (which goes live on Thursday) will have a different type of ramen. While the kit is sent out on Sundays, work begins on Monday, with Kuttapa ideating. While this week's is yet to be announced, last week featured the Tantanmen - a Japanese take on Sichuan dan dan noodles, but made with a yuzu hazelnut crumble, inspired from a Japanese outlet called Afuri Ramen. Once the menu is announced, the next few days are spent neck deep in the kitchen to prepare the ware for delivery. While the noodles are made from scratch, Kuttapa does rely on vendors in the city to source ingredients like dried fish and seaweed from Japan.

After cooking up South Indian pub-friendly food for the Permit Room, Kuttapa's experiments with the East Asian ramen may come as a surprise, but is a plan that's been simmering for a while now. Kuttapa tried this noodle soup dish for the first time in the United States in 2012, where it made its way into his stomach and found a permanent place in his heart. "It's always been at the back of my mind," says Kuttapa, who has been perfecting the art of making ramen at home for the past nine months. Besides online resources, he also reached out to various non-Japanese ramen making enthusiasts to learn more.

> Kavan Kuttapa, founder, Naru Noodle Bar

But what drew this South Bengalurean to ramen in the first place? Comfort, he says, recalling a memory from a trip to Japan in 2018. It involves three friends, a tiff and a 5am pitstop for the dish. "Everything felt good again after that. It just felt like the necessity of the hour," he says. Just like choosing Sunday to send out his ramen kits. "It's the day everyone is home and a nice siesta is just what you need post this meal," says Kuttapa, who hopes to have a physical place - even if it's a hole in the wall - by the year-end for Naru Noodle Bar.

Theatre artist Divya Karanth on Season 2 of Nota-Nataka in which theatre personalities talk about the profession

THEATRE ON SCREEN

EXPRESS FEATURES

THE soul of theatre is its ability to connect with a physically present audience. Before March 2019, people would have scoffed at the thought that a day would come when people would watch plays on screens, hold workshops online... All, as a matter of fact. But many in the world of theatre have, in fact, done just that, and to great effect.

Writer and director Divya Karanth, for one, started the online series Nota-Nataka to discuss various aspects of theatre – from writing and direction, to attitudes to women in the arts. She invited popular personalities from the world of arts and theatre to talk about their lives and even touch on issues that affect the profession.

The response to the show was so good, that she's back with season 2, with the first episode inviting senior theatre artiste S N Seetharam.

"Season 1 turned out to be informative for many people, so I thought, 'Why not come up with another season?' The second one is more elaborate where the same guests now touch on different topics," says the founder-director of Bengaluru-based Sarvam Theatre.

Last year, Karanth's guests included movie actor Babu Hirannaiah, theatre actor PD Sathish Chandra, singer-actor MD Pallavi, and others. The shows are available on Sarvam Theatre's YouTube channel.

"Season 1 of the show explored many topics like the past and present of theatre, technical aspects such as audio production, and even gender issues that female theatre directors face. And the series was highly appreciated," says Karanth.

The second edition of the show comes when Karnataka is back under lockdown a year on. The last episode was on May 27 featuring film actor and Kannada film writer Rajesh Nataranga who touched on muscle memory in actors.

Karanth, who wrote and directed My Wife, Mrs Gandhi some years ago, says she doesn't want to overdo things on a particular subject. The two seasons of Nota-Nataka are separated by other work such as Goodness Exists. The online series featured small skits on spreading positivity, a much-needed thing as the past year has been tough for all, particularly those who are marginalised.

FIT BIT

EKA PADA INDUDALASANA

(ONE LEGGED CRESCENT POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'Eka' means one, 'pada' means leg, 'indudala' means crescent and 'asana' means pose. The oblique muscles play an important role in facilitating daily activities. It is important to stretch and strengthen them regularly. This is an excellent variation pose to strengthen your oblique muscles. The side stretches in the workout to burn the belly fat and strengthen the core muscles too. It helps you get focused and reduces stress. It opens the hip flexors and strengthens the hip extensors, helping students learn to make their hips square in a split leg standing pose.

STEPS

- Begin in Tadasana (Mountain Pose).
- Inhale and move your arms towards the ceiling while expanding your upper ribs.
- Join your palms and keep your back straight.
- Exhale and bend towards your left without disturbing your lower body.
- Feel the stretch on the right side of your body.
- Gaze forward and maintain your balance. Inhale and lift your right leg sideways out and up.
- Stay in this pose for three long breaths.
- Exhale and bring your right leg down.
- Inhale and come into Tadasana.
- Exhale and repeat the posture on your other side.

BENEFITS

- Regular practice of this asana reduces stress and fatigue.
- Helps stretch the sides, shoulders, arms and spine.
- Useful in strengthening the abdominal muscles.
- Regular practice improves digestion.
- Improves flexibility and balance.
- Improves blood circulation in the body.
- Lifting the torso and arms help build strength in the arms, shoulders, and back.

LIMITATIONS

- If anyone suffers from severe lower back, shoulder or neck injuries, avoid this pose.
- Those who are suffering from headache or heart problems should avoid this asana.

No of pages: 304

This war story is a riveting recap of the Gorkha battalion which undertakes the Indian army's first heliborne operation deep inside the enemy's territory. It is a collection of true stories giving an account of what really happened during the 1971 Indo-Pak war, piecing together every situation in vivid detail through interviews with survivors and their families.

FRAMERS: HUMAN ADVANTAGE IN AN AGE OF TECHNOLOGY AND TURMOIL

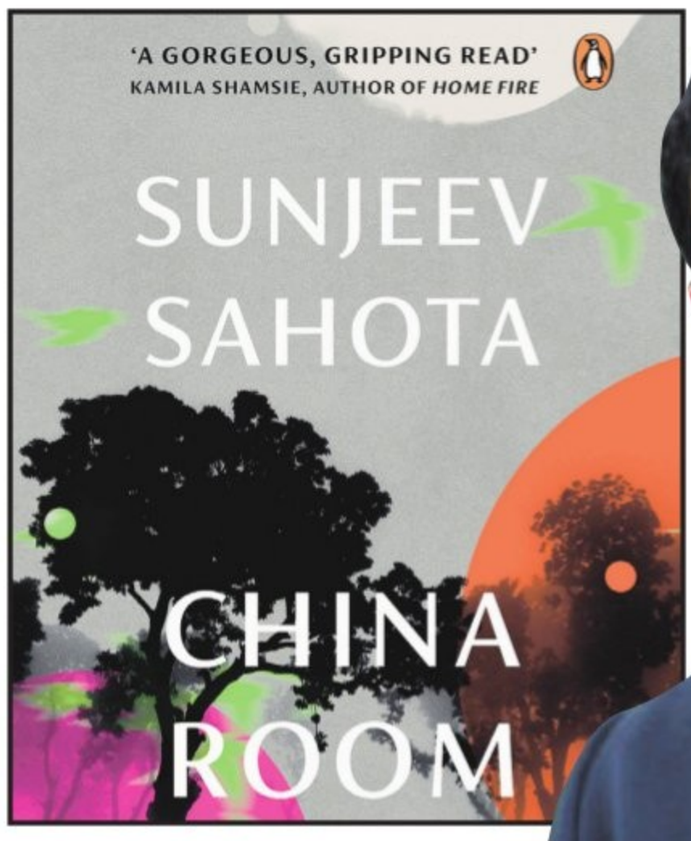
Author: Kenneth Cukier, Viktor Mayer-Schönberger, Francis de Véricourt

No of pages: 232

The book is an insightful tome putting together the role of machine intelligence at the cost of forfeiting the essential elements of human progress. Casualty, counterfactuals and constraints - the authors explain the role of these factors and their influence on farmers for better control over farming. The authors also argue that amplifying these three significant factors will ensure that control over decision making lies in the hands of people rather than machines.

TURNING PAGES

'WHEN IT CAME TO DAD, IT WAS ALL NEW'



In July 2019 my father underwent surgery to have his entire left knee replaced. After four days in hospital he was discharged with a blister pack of pain relief, some blood thinner, a pamphlet promoting ten lots of exercises, and a pair of crutches. He and Mum were going to need daily help on all sorts of fronts, so my wife and three kids drove down to my in-laws for the summer while I returned to the house and shop where I grew up, moving back into my old bedroom, behind a door that still read S-'s. Some of my duties rendered me to my teenaged self: Mum calling me down to unload a delivery, or to drive over to the cash-and-carry in the van, or trudge out with the newspapers because the paperboy was hungover from the night before. When it came to Dad, it was all new. I held his hand while he completed circuits of the dining table. I bore his weight up and down the stairs. I removed his compression socks and moisturised his massively swollen, woody and unflexing leg. I helped him dress. I also had to show people round, because the knee surgery had finally forced Dad, however recalcitrantly, and after thirty-one years, into putting the place up for sale. So there I was, hurrying prospective buyers past Dad lying on the sofa, who far from acknowledging their bright hellos, pointed his crutch after them like some sniper. He was going to miss the place desperately, and something like sweet melancholy filled those sunny afternoons when people came to tramp in and out of the rooms.

By the second week, the three of us seemed to have found our groove, a routine. I came to recognise once again the 6 a.m. sounds of the milk-and-bread man, sounds that had me crushing toast into my mouth and heading out to agree our order. Twenty years on, I was again totting up the takings, allowing for the Lottery, the Instants, the Paypoint cash, mindful that a float needed to be left in the till. I adjusted my meal plans once Mum reminded me (how could I have forgotten?) that Dad liked raita only with his evening meal, not his afternoon one. I didn't have much spare time, but between cooking and showing people round, fetching Dad his Codeine and administering the Tinzaparin, between helping him through his exercises and helping Mum with the shop, I tried to read. I'd brought a pile of books with me: The Little Virtues; Under the Volcano; a biography of Leonora Carrington; Les Murray's Waiting for the Past. Though I realised it only later, the books were all by or about people who had already taken their leave. Not that I read any of them: I was too distracted, my mind too tense. I couldn't give my attention to comprehending someone else's world when I was, for the first time in two decades - and for the final time, too - living in the place that had once unravelled my own.

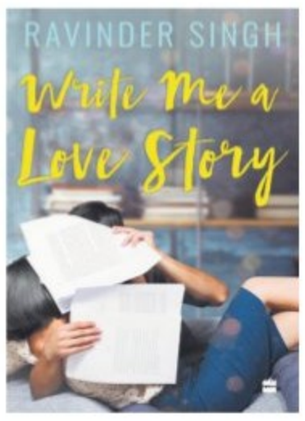
Ravinder Singh comes out with new book

Ravinder Singh is the author of seven novels and two crowd-sourced anthologies. His latest book is called Write Me A Love Story and falls under the romantic fiction genre. It follows the story of Abhimanyu Razdan, the "golden boy" of Indian publishing and a romance writer. Abhimanyu ends up in an argument with the editor, who looks down upon popular fiction. He vows to teach her a lesson by demanding that she edit his book but as the story progresses, the two end up harbouring feelings for each other.



Death by the book

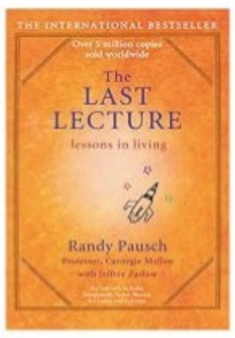
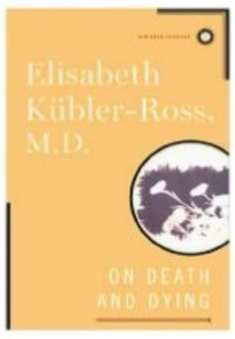
VR FEROSE

Death: We generally skirt this subject since it is painful yet unavoidable; often unexpected but absolute. And that is precisely why we should talk about death. As American rabbi Joshua L. Liebman writes in Peace of Mind, "Death is not the enemy of life, but its friend, for it is the knowledge that our years are limited which makes them so precious."

The first book to explore the now-famous five stages of death was On Death & Dying by Elisabeth Kübler-Ross. It gives readers a better understanding of how imminent death affects patients, their families, and the professionals who serve them.

The Tibetan Book of Living and Dying by Sogyal Rinpoche, which has sold over two million copies in 30 languages, presents the teachings of Tibetan Buddhism based on the Tibetan Book of the Dead or Bardo Thodol. It explores the message of impermanence; evolution, karma and rebirth; the nature of mind and how to train it through meditation; how to follow a spiritual path; the practice of compassion; how to care for and show love to the dying; and spiritual practices for the moment of death.





Option B: Facing Adversity, Building Resilience, and Finding Joy is co-authored by Facebook COO Sheryl Sandberg and Wharton Professor Adam Grant. The book advises us to think of resilience as a muscle, one that atrophies in the calm between the storms of our lives, but which can be developed, so we're better prepared when adversity strikes.

When Breath Becomes Air is an autobiographical book written by American neurosurgeon Paul Kalanithi. This posthumously published bestseller is a moving memoir about his life and battle with lung cancer.

Will My Cat Eat My Eyeballs? Big Questions from Tiny Mortals about Death is by best-selling author and mortician Caitlin Doughty. She answers real and often funny questions from kids about death, dead bodies, and decomposition.

One of my early favourites is The Last Lecture by Randy Pausch, which continues to be shared across generations. A lot of professors give talks titled 'The Last Lecture' where they are asked to ruminate on the wisdom they would impart to the world if they knew they would die the next day. When Pausch, a computer science professor at Carnegie Mellon, was approached for such a lecture, he had just been diagnosed with terminal cancer. But the lecture he gave, 'Really Achieving Your Childhood Dreams', was not about dying. It emphasised the importance of seizing every moment, overcoming obstacles and enabling the dreams of others. Another bestseller is Being Mortal by Atul Gawande who asserts that medicine can provide both a good life and a good end. The book is a personal tale of his father's battle with cancer and a public call for a better health care philosophy and system that would allow us to die a humane death.

My recent favourite is Arun Shourie's Preparing for Death. The section that intrigued me the most is where he documents "great souls" experiencing the often painful dissolution of their own body - the Buddha, Ramkrishna Paramhansa, Ramana Maharshi, Mahatma Gandhi, and Vinoba Bhave, and, as a cameo, Kasturba Gandhi. This is a book for every seeker!

Preparing a will forced to me think of my own mortality. All of us will have to deal with the death of a loved one at least once. We need to learn to talk about age, illness and death in realistic terms. I hope these books will guide us to prepare for those days.

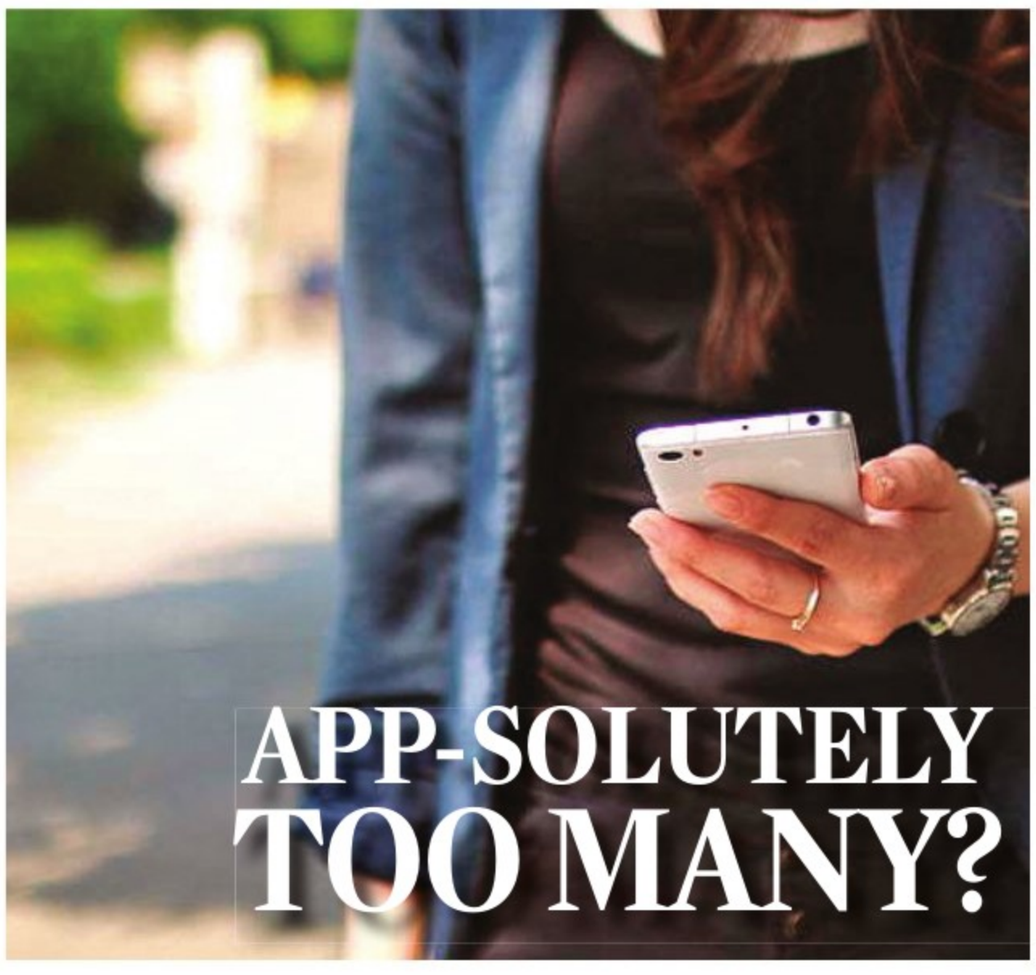
APP-SOLUTELY TOO MANY?



There's a new app in town, friends. It's called Clubhouse, and even though I know nothing else about the app, you can bet your vaccine on the fact that I'm going to jump on to the app. There's something alluring about a new app that everybody's raving about, and I can feel the FOMO rushing through my veins as I type this.

One could argue that the world really does not need more social media apps. From an age when people couldn't get in touch with each other, human beings have zoomed forward into a world where we will quickly have had enough of each other. Look around you - do you really need another platform to stay in touch with people? There is already your email – gently nudging you that you have 5,673 unread mails waiting. You could write a touching mail to anybody you know, and yet all we use our email for is to delete 'Happy Birthday' messages from shopping sites. Then there is Facebook – the granddaddy of social media apps. A platform that was sold to us as the promised land – only to later descend into a manipulative platform that is listening to every single conversation, just to sell you boxer briefs with Ironman on them.

There is WhatsApp, with enough misinformation to give Richard Feynman a heart attack. What began as a platform for sharing pictures and voice notes, has descended into a flowing, molten lava of whispers, vitriol, and fake news. Recently, we have been sold the Signal app as a safer replacement for WhatsApp. Then there is Instagram - the museum of perfect lives - where Thursdays are about throwbacks and people specifically spread 'Good vibes only'.

If you wish to communicate with the world in general, there is Twitter. A noisy space filled with trolls, memes, and people sermonising to each other on how to go about their lives. The name 'Twitter' might conjure up the image of cute birds chirping at each other. But in reality, 'Dogfight' might be a more appropriate name. If you have a job, you must be found on LinkedIn – which is basically Orkut dressed in a blazer and suit. There are of course official 'Slacks' and 'Teams' that office-going citizens have to be a part of.

Ironically, the deepest connections I've made with strangers online is through my blog. Even though it is more than a decade old, it allowed strangers to read my work, and their gentle nudging helped me gain confidence to become a professional writer. My readers had no idea who I was in real life, and yet we sent mails, communicated, and had discussions on numerous topics under the sun.

Which begs the question – how many apps is too many apps? Social media today is like a gigantic buffet where you HAVE to have every single dish provided. Of course, the government is busy trying to regulate the use of social media, which is another exercise in futility. There will be a mushrooming of apps in the future, as citizens move like swarms of bees from one app to the other. Nobody voted for me, but if I were in the government, I'd let the social media apps be. I'd let them go through the cycle of birth and death, and wait for the day when we go back to writing letters to each other – the true example of anti-social media!

DIXITH TO TAKE FORWARD SERIES 'DEADLY'

A SHARADHAA

MR Dixith will be making his tinsel town debut as a hero with Deadly 3. An official announcement was made by director Ravi Srivatsa on his social media platforms regarding this, on May 31. This announcement was accompanied with the first-look poster of the film. Ravi had previously directed the Deadly Soma franchise with Aditya, which brought the actor into limelight. He is now helming part 3 of the series with a newcomer.

Initially, Ravi had planned to launch Dixith with a film titled MR, based on the life of underworld don Muthappa Rai, for which the makers had even held a grand launch. However, the film went into various controversies even before it went on floors. So the director, along with the actor and producer, decided to drop the project, and have now come up with a new subject. Incidentally, even the Deadly franchise conceived by the director is also an underworld-based subject with elements of love and family drama. The actor, who also revealed his previous connection to the franchise, feels he was destined to debut with Deadly 3. "My father was one of the producers of Deadly Soma, and is also producing this film. Also, I played a role as a child actor in Deadly Soma. However, I was not part of Deadly 2 because I had to focus on my studies. And when I came back to face the arc lights, I got associated with character roles in films like Ayogya, Tiger Galli, and Bharaate. I am now being launched as a full-fledged hero in Deadly 3," he says. Meanwhile, Aditya who came to the limelight with the Deadly Soma series, is today known as 'Deadly Aditya'. "That tag will always remain Aditya's," says Dixit, adding, "The story is about a youngster — the son of a rowdy— and his journey." Dixith is happy to associate with Ravi Srivatsa, who he feels manages to create curiosity with his choice of subjects. "I am making sure I put in 100 per cent effort," says the 6'2" hero, who is preparing for the role. "Right now, I have been given a task to learn certain mannerisms. In addition, I'm honing my dance and fight skills," he signs off.

YASHA SHIVAKUMAR PLAYS FEMALE LEAD IN DEADLY 3

Even as the shooting of Yasha Shivakumar's debut Padavi Poorva directed by Hariprasad Jayanna is still to be completed, the actor is bagging a good line-up of projects. The model-turned-heroine, who is part of Vijay Milton's directorial starring Shivarajkumar and Dhananjay, has been now chosen to play the female lead in Ravi Srivatsa Deadly 3. The makers are planning to begin shooting one month after the lockdown is lifted. That is when the director will be revealing details of the heroine's role.

Deadly 3 will have Gurukiran scoring music, and Mathews handling the camera work. The film will have Thriller Manju handling the stunts and Lakshman Reddy at the editing table. Yasha is also part of Tulu Film Raj Sound and Light and has been signed on as the heroine in Kiran Raj-starrer Bahaddur Gandu that is directed by Prasiddh.

Vineeth Sreenivasan

Singer Vineeth Sreenivasan lends voice to 777 Charlie

The director has cut a song teaser titled Life of Charlie; will be out on June 6

CE FEATURES

The official teaser of Kiranraj's directorial 777 Charlie, which will be released on June 6, will be out in five languages. Now, the writer-director is planning an out-of-the-box presentation and has cut a two-minute song teaser, which is said to be unusual. The teaser, titled Life of Charlie, more or less runs on a labrador dog, which plays a full-fledged role, along with lead actor Rakshit Shetty. 777 Charlie is produced by GS Gupta under the banner Paramvah Studios, and has music scored by Nobin Paul.

The teaser will be out in multiple languages. The Malayalam version of the teaser has been sung by well-known singer, actor and director Vineeth Sreenivasan. "Vineeth watched the teaser and loved the content. He wanted to be a part of the project. Apart from the song which will be out in the teaser, he has also sung a song for the film," says Kiranraj, adding, "The Kannada and Hindi versions have been sung by Shubham Roy, and Karthik has lent his voice for Tamil and Telugu."

Salman Khan: Couldn't be happier with Dabangg - The Animated Series

CE FEATURES

Salman Khan's iconic character Chulbul Pandey has returned in a new avatar with Dabangg - The Animated Series (on Disney+ Hotstar VIP). An adaptation of the blockbuster Bollywood franchise, the action-comedy series chronicles the day-to-day life of Police Officer Chulbul Pandey, who stands in the face of evil to keep the city safe. He is joined by his younger brother Makkhi, who, new to the police force, attempts to emulate his older brother in every sticky situation.

The first 8 episodes of season 1 are now streaming in Hindi, Tamil and Telugu on Disney+ Hotstar VIP. New episodes are set to be released regularly. The series is produced by animation studio Cosmos-Maya in collaboration with Arbaaz Khan Productions.

Speaking about Chulbul Pandey's return in an animated avatar, Salman said, "Chulbul Pandey is a very special character for me because of the love that audiences have showered on him, and the movie, for over 10 years. I couldn't be happier that Chulbul, Makkhi and Rajjo are returning in animated avatars to entertain the children of our country."

He added, "I cannot wait to binge-watch all episodes of Dabangg - The Animated Series with my nieces and nephews while at home. Animation has opened up yet another dimension for this character and I'm thrilled Cosmos-Maya did that. I hope that all children, along with their families, take time out and enjoy watching this together."

Producer Arbaaz Khan said, "Dabangg, for me, goes beyond just a film or a franchise; and to see it coming to life in an all-new format is overwhelming and we were on board with the idea, the moment we met Team Cosmos-Maya. They have revolutionized Indian animation & I couldn't have asked for a better animation studio partner for our Dabangg. The thought behind creating Chulbul Pandey was to make him a household favorite, and the biggest and most humbling compliment comes from all the love that this character has received from children."

Disney+ Hotstar spokesperson said, "Dabangg is an exceptional addition to the library of kids content on Disney+ Hotstar VIP, which offers parents the crucial control of managing what their children are watching, through the kids-safe mode. Audiences of all ages love Salman Khan, and we're delighted to be bringing his iconic character and movie in a form that can be enjoyed by kids and their families."

Leighton Meester in Netflix's The Weekend Away?

CE FEATURES

Actor Leighton Meester, best-known for playing Blair Waldorf in the popular American TV series, Gossip Girl, is reportedly in talks to star in the adaptation of the crime thriller novel, The Weekend Away. According to sources, Netflix will be adapting the Sarah Alderson novel into a feature film, with Meester set to star in one of the lead roles. However, an official confirmation on behalf of the streaming giant is awaited.

Alderson's novel follows two childhood friends, Orla and Kate, who set out on their annual weekend trip to Lisbon, where Kate mysteriously vanishes without a trace. Actor Christina Wolfe, known for playing the role of Julia Pennyworth in the TV show Batwoman, will be reportedly playing one of the main characters.

Post her Gossip Girl stint, Meester appeared in films such as The Judge, By the Gun, and Semper Fi. She was last seen in the sitcom, Single Parents, in which she played one of the leads before it ended last year.

Sobhita Dhulipala

RSVP drops new look of Sobhita Dhulipala from Sitara

CE FEATURES

On Sobhita Dhulipala's birthday, RSVP Movies has shared a still of the actor from their upcoming film Sitara.

Directed by Vandana Kataria, Sitara revolves around a fiercely independent interior designer and an aspiring chef. The film follows the couple as they work out issues in their relationship. Sobhita stars alongside Rajeev Siddhartha in the film.

Vandana Kataria started out as a production designer. She worked with Dibakar Banerjee on Oye Lucky Lucky Oye and Detective Byomkesh Bakshy. She was an associate director on Gully Boy and made her directorial debut with Noblemen (2018).

Sitara was wrapped in December last year. The film is slated for a direct-to-digital release.

Sobhita is also a part of Major, led by Adivi Sesh. The biographical drama has been postponed due to the pandemic.
